AIRLINER FIGHTS STORM ON WAY TO U. S.

SHENANDOAH DUE OVER GLENDALE TUESDAY

Big Air Vessel to Appear In Sky Between 9 A. M. And Noon, Is Report

By MARIAN MARSHALL
For Southland News Service.

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 13.—When the Shenandoah, giant navy dirigible, goes sailing over Glendale and Pasadena tomorrow morning between 9 o'clock and noon, binoculars will be the order of the day.

Dust off the old field glasses, for, while the Shenandoah is visible at ten miles, its aluminum sheen in the sun makes it resemble a huge distorted bubble. It really looks like a nickel-plated bobbin weaving back and forth from its mooring mast here.

Sailing time was advanced to 7:30 a. m. Tuesday, Admiral Moffett finding California sunshine warm enough to aid the helium in an easy take-off. He also desires to pass over Golden Gate at sunset and arrive at Camp Lewis, Wash., the following night.

Various Versions

Regarding the damage done when the ship landed here, various versions are held by observers, although no one hazards the statement that the Shenandoah nicked the top of Sangorgonia pass during the storm Friday night, when it again proved victor over elements. It may have jarred its tail loose, for it was clearing the heights with only fifteen feet to spare, it is said.

Repairs to the air leviathan gave Admiral Moffett and Commander Zachary Landsdowne and the crew an opportunity to enjoy Captain and Mrs. T. T. Craven's hospitality at dinner Saturday night.

Club Meeting Ends In Double Shooting

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 13.—A directors' meeting of the Mutual Rocky Mountain club in a downtown office building here this afternoon ended in a double shooting and attempted suicide.

John C. Deskin, a director of the club, was shot and dangerously wounded by R. F. Warren, manager of the club, according to a police report. A stray bullet also struck Herbert S. Towner, a director, causing a slight gash wound. Deskin and Warren are Kansas City men. Towner lives in Blackwell, Okla.

Many Trying to Pick Name for New Blimp

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—Intense interest is being manifested throughout the country in the naming of the ZR-3, after the ship's acceptance by the United States government, Secretary of the Navy Wilbur said today.

Among the names suggested "Sonora de Los Angeles," which means "Lady of the Angels." This name, suggested by a Californian, was enthusiastically received by Wilbur, who pointed out that the Shenandoah is Indian for "Daughter of the Stars."

Demand Death of Woman Who Caused Slaying of Husband

MIDDLEBURG, Pa., Oct. 13.—Spurned by her acquaintances, rejected by her friends, condemned by the casual curious, Mrs. Annie Willow, 38, alleged to have driven 18-year-old Ralph Shadel to the brutal murder of her husband, today faced the state's grim demand for expiation—death in the electric chair.

Indicted for first degree murder, the woman, through her counsel, chose a separate trial rather than stand jointly with her youthful lover. Shadel has been convicted of second degree murder and sentenced to twenty years' imprisonment.

ALL FOREIGN UNITS RUSH TO DEFEND SHANGHAI

Disrupted Chekiang, Forces May Retreat on City; Confusion Prevails

By BERT KUHN
For International News Service.

SHANGHAI, Oct. 13.—All available foreign defense units, including the Shanghai volunteer corps, the police reserves and contingents from the twenty-four foreign war craft now in the harbor here, were ordered out today to guard the boundaries of the foreign settlement here in anticipation of a general retreat on the city of 30,000 disorganized Chekiang soldiers, following the decision of their leaders to surrender.

The wildest confusion prevails in the field. No provisions were made for the surrender of the Chekiang forces and fighting is still going on at Huang Tu, the troops being unaware of their leaders' surrender.

Thousands of civilian refugees are flocking into the city, fearing the coming horde of leaderless soldiers.

Fear Rebellion

One report stated that Chwang Ts Ping, in command of the Chekiang forces in the field, would refuse to recognize the surrender announced by Luey Yung Hsiang and H. E. Feng Lin and is now reorganizing his lines for a final stand fifteen miles from Shanghai.

Despite statements issued by Generals Hu and Ho that they had decided upon surrender in order to avert the inevitable destruction of life and property that would have followed a battle at the gates of this city, the opinion prevails here that they feared rebellion of their troops following the alleged bribery of subordinates.

Seeks Refuge

General Ho sought refuge in a residence in the French concession and Lu also took up his residence which he maintained in the international settlement.

Wounded continued to pour in from the front, fifty arriving this morning.

The foreign forces, including American marines and sailors, have formed a complete cordon about the international settlement.

All soldiers will be disarmed who attempt to enter and every effort will be made to prevent looting in the native city.

Casare, an artist, to accompany Lieutenant Elliott and make sketches of the country covered. The first stop will be Belle Fonte, Pa. The plane then will go to Cleveland, Bryan, Ohio, Mt. Clemens, Mich., Columbus, Neb., Salt Lake City and San Francisco, Los Angeles, San Diego, El Paso, San Antonio, and back to Mitchel Field.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 13.—While warring factions of gypsies gathered in a "peace" council today to determine the fate of Rose Mitchell, lovely "princess" and seer who precipitated a gun battle by running away from one of the camps, police formed a heavy cordon about the scene to prevent dangerous hostilities.

In the meantime, the gypsy tribe with which the Mitchell family is affiliated, ostracized the girl and her relatives pending settlement of the situation. Princess Mitchell claims her father "loaned" her to another tribe to tell fortunes, at the rate of $4 per day. The "other tribe" claims it purchased the Mitchell girl for $4000.

7 INJURED IN POLICE AND FIRE AUTO ACCIDENT

Speeding Machines Collide In Los Angeles While On Way to Blaze

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 13.—A spectacular crash between a fire department car and a police machine at a busy intersection in the wholesale district while a "run" was being made in response to a fire alarm resulted in injury to seven persons today.

Pedestrians, seeing the speeding machines approaching each other on the "blind" intersection, attempted to flag the two cars down, but the drivers mistook their signals and the crash resulted.

The injured are: Police Detectives Claude Dryden, 40; Jack Bruttig, 36; Richard Lansing, 42, and Frank De Grace; Battalion Fire Chief J. Blake and Mr. and Mrs. Rosario Desimone of Downey, Cal.

The fire department car struck the police touring car broadside, hurtling it across the intersection into the Desimone car, which had stopped at the curb to allow the apparatus to pass. The machines were a tangled mass of wreckage, with the injured pinned in the twisted automobile bodies.

While pedestrians struggled to release them from the wreckage, ambulances were summoned and all seven of them were rushed to a hospital.

Chinatowns Keep Eyes On Peace Conference

NEW YORK, Oct. 13—Feudists of the On Leong and Hip Sing tongs in the larger cities kept their eyes on New York's Chinatown and their hands on their pistols today, waiting for another conference that might result in the signing of a peace treaty. Thus far it has resulted in murders and shootings in New York, Boston, Pittsburgh, Chicago and New Jersey.

Sailors Ready to Make Huge Craft Safe at Moorings

LAKEHURST, N. J., Oct. 13.—The crew of the naval station here were "standing by" today for the arrival of the dirigible ZR-3 on Wednesday from Friedrichshafen, Germany. Four hundred sailors and marines are ready to seize the mooring lines of the world's largest rigid airship and warp it into its hangar.

After the ZR-3 becomes an official part of the United States navy, it will make a trans-oceanic flight, probably to England, some time before Christmas, according to Lieutenant Commander Joseph M. Deem, executive officer at the Lakehurst aviation field. As soon as the huge airship has been refilled with helium to replace the inflammable hydrogen she now contains, it will cruise over the country with passengers and mails in a number of test flights, Commander Deem said.

HIGH HONORS ANNEXED BY GLENDALE

Local Realtors Deserve Big Praise for Their Showing At State Convention

Feeling justly proud of the record set at the twentieth annual convention of the California realtors at Pasadena last week, the members of the Glendale Realty board today are boasting of the eight signal honors won by the city. These honors are:

First — C. C. C. Tatum Achievement cup, in recognition of signal service performed for the city.

Second — Tied for second place in the Home-Town contest.

Third—Plaque given by the California Real Estate magazine for the best board display advertising in the state.

Seventh—First place in the golf tournament for low net score, won by D. W. Hepburn.

Eighth—Election of Charles B. Guthrie as one of the directors at large by the state organization.

"It is impossible to estimate the amount of advertising and publicity Glendale received by the active participation in the convention program," Peter Hanson, president of the Glendale Realty board, said today. "In addition to the medals, cups and prizes that we received, the city will benefit greatly by the artistic booth, decorated by George J. Lyons, and by many other things that occurred at the convention."

Mr. Hanson, it was learned, is in demand throughout the state as a speaker before realty boards, following his "Home-Town contest" address, which resulted in a tie for second place. Six realty boards will hear Mr. Hanson within the next few weeks, it was learned, and other boards are seeking him as a speaker.

Child Dead, 8 Injured In Stage-Auto Crash

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 13.—The 8-months-old baby of Mr. and Mrs. Steven Turk, 1509 North Main street, Los Angeles, is dead and eight other persons are recovering from injuries today as the result of an automobile accident last night near Jacumba, eighty miles east of here. Two touring cars and a Pickwick stage collided, reports here say.

According to J. W. Farrell, driver of the stage, the accident happened when a touring car, driven by Fred Turk, uncle of the dead child, tried to pass another car, going in the same direction, at the brow of a hill. As they were abreast the stage, coming in the opposite direction, hove into sight, it was claimed. Mrs. Turk, the child's mother, was injured about the head and its father and Fred Turk also were cut and badly bruised.

GIANT ZEPPELIN SAILING ONWARD IN SPITE OF BAD WEATHER IN MID-ATLANTIC

Wet Winds Fail to Halt Progress of Huge Dirigible from Germany Enroute to America from European Coast

BULLETIN

LONDON, Oct. 13.—The ZR-3 was reported half way between Spain and the Azores in a radio message received here at 4:30 o'clock this morning. The dirigible was making 110 kilometers an hour and at that time expected to reach America Tuesday evening or Wednesday morning.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—Battling bad weather, the Zeppelin ZR-3 was well west of the Azores this afternoon, speeding westward toward the United States, according to wireless messages picked up here.

After leaving the European coast line, the airship turned straight for the American coast, keeping in constant wireless communication for weather reports. Radio advices forecast bad weather in mid-Atlantic, but at last reports it had not interfered with the progress of the giant dirigible.

A special report wirelessed to the ZR-3 by the navy department at 11 a. m., said that a storm south of Greenland was moving northeastward and that there was an area of low pressure southwestward to Bermuda.

Barometric pressure, the report said, is still high from Quebec, southward to Florida. The highest is 39.34 at Montreal and the lowest 29.42 in the vicinity of Bermuda.

"Strong, shifting winds," the report said, "prevailed above latitude 45, but winds have diminished elsewhere. Moderate to fresh northerly westward of longitude 60 and probably moderate southwest to latitude 35 and 45 and fresh longitude 60 eastward."

Officials of the naval bureau of aeronauts expect the ZR-3 to strike a bee line for Lakehurst after passing Bermuda, 700 miles off Cape Hatteras. The steamship route from Bermuda to New York City is 680 miles.

The cruiser Milwaukee is now en route to a position 450 miles south of Halifax, that is in the direction of Bermuda, to act as a relay station for messages to and fro from the ZR-3. The Milwaukee was stationed 250 miles east of Halifax, but the shift became necessary when the commander of the ZR-3 decided to take the southern trip across the Atlantic.

The navy department announced that when the ZR-3 left its station in Germany the Zeppelin Co., builders of the dirigible, gave a custody receipt for the vessel to the German government.

Acceptance Tests

When the ship arrives at Lakehurst she will be examined by a board of officers and will be put through what the navy department calls "acceptance tests."

A detailed report on the condition of the ship after these tests will then be submitted to the secretary of the navy, who, in turn, will advise the state department of the acceptance of the vessel.

The state department will then give a receipt for the airship to the government of Germany.

TEACHERS OF DISTRICT IN INSTITUTE

County Superintendent Gives Address; Educator From Fresno Also Speaks

The one-day teachers' institute opened this morning in the Broadway High school, with George U. Moyse presiding, and teachers present from the Glendale Union High and Elementary schools and the La Canada Elementary.

The opening number was given by the high school girls' glee club, who played "Husheen," by Needham, and "De Bogey Man," by Karoline Wells Bassett. The girls were under the direction of Mrs. Florence Parker.

Announcement of the Philharmonic orchestra concert at the high school Friday night, October 17, under the auspices of the student body, was made by George W. MacLellan, manager of the orchestra. This will be one of the big events of the year in school circles, and a large attendance is expected.

County Head Talks

Mark Keppel, county superintendent of schools, spoke at some length on the narcotic evil, and expressed the belief that the day would come when there would be no tobacco users among school teachers. He also spoke of the alleged growing evil of the use of tobacco among the female students of some of the larger colleges, and added this subject is gone into when teachers apply for certificates.

Touching on local subjects, Mr. Keppel said he was present when the cornerstone was laid during the construction of the original high school in Glendale, then at the corner of Brand boulevard and Broadway. This was about twenty years ago, he said, and added that at that time fifty-foot lots on Brand boulevard could be

Outline Campaign To Secure Civic Center

Immediate publicity, organizations of precincts and finances were maters of import considered this morning by the Civic Center Campaign committee meeting at 8:30 o'clock in the campaign headquarters at 102 East Harvard street.

In furthering these three necessary lines in conducting the campaign, chairmen were appointed. H. M. Butts was named chairman of publicity; C. Berger, of precinct organization; and J. E. Barney, finances.

D. H. Smith, general chairman, presided over the meeting. There were present Mr. Smith, L. H. Wilson, J. R. Gray, A. T. Cowan, Jesse Gyger, H. M. Butts, T. D. Watson, C. Berger, John R. Powers and R. Ernest Tucker.

Plans were made for beginning immediate publicity, and several new members were considered for the committee. Announcement was made that the headquarters will be continued at 102 East Harvard street, where a secretary will be on hand every day. The next meeting of the committee will be held at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon at the headquarters.

Coolidge Headquarters Prove Popular Place

Glendale Republicans are greatly gratified over the popularity of the Coolidge headquarters now open at 220 South Brand boulevard. Although open but three days, activity has been continuous from 7:30 o'clock in the morning until 10 o'clock each day. Those in charge say that never before have they witnessed such intense interest among Glendale people in political campaign affairs.

There is a constant stream of visitors at headquarters calling for literature, buttons, windshield signs, Coolidge portraits and other campaign features. According to those in charge a strong undercurrent of Coolidge sentiment is felt and it is highly encouraging to all interested in maintaining a common sense equilibrium in business and government.

Among the interesting developments noted are the interest and enthusiasm of "first voters" and the deep concern in the campaign shown by those engaged in all lines of industry. One prominent Republican says:

"It has been clearly demonstrated that so far as Glendale citizens are concerned there is and can be no division of the Coolidge support into classes. The attempt to create class division in local politics is a complete failure. It does not require a political expert to define the one big issue of the campaign, for every thoughtful person knows that it is well put in the slogan 'It's Coolidge or Chaos.'"

FREEDOM OF STYLE IS DESIRED

Women of Foreign Countries Seek Only Emancipation Of Dress, Is Report

By L. C. OWEN
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., Oct. 13.—It's not the right to vote, freedom of thought, exercising of one's choice in selecting husbands or in bearing children, nor participation in the making of laws governing them, that is most coveted by the billion or more voteless and unemancipated women the world over. The mecca of their desires lies in a much more feminine direction. The thing they want most is the right to dress themselves as they please, to exercise the age-old feminine foibles to make themselves attractive.

Such is the message just brought back to America from twenty-seven foreign countries, most of them noteworthy for the restrictions with which they surround womanhood, by Mrs. Elizabeth Murray Shepperd, authoress, suffrage worker and nationally known American club woman, who, in the past two years, as representative of the International Council of Women, has launched national branches of that organization in all the countries which she visited.

Will Make Report

En route from the Orient to Washington, where on October 14 she will report the results of her tour at an executive board meeting of the international organization, Mrs. Shepperd cast some brief but interesting side-lights upon feminine reflexes to the universal suffrage movement, which she found in her two years' round-the-world tour.

"Equal suffrage, birth control, the right to love and wed accordingly, and a part in the framing of laws which affect them most, are among their great ambitions," she said, "but in their alphabet of desire all others play second fiddle to one universal thought—emancipation in dress. They want unrestricted, unimpeded right to garb themselves attractively, regardless of customs or the dictates of their male lords and masters."

Second to Heaven

The United States, to these millions of unemancipated women, says Mrs. Shepperd, is rated second only to Heaven. Likewise, she says, American men are regarded as saints on earth, because of the unstinted freedom which they allow the American female of the species.

"In Egypt, the Balkans, India, China and Japan, where restrictions imposed upon women are particularly galling, the liberties America has accorded women have created international friendliness toward us which is almost beyond comprehension," she continued. "This friendliness, however, is strictly confined to the women folk. The men don't like us because they indignantly contend we are setting a bad example for all the rest of the women in the world. But, even the men, apparently seeing the handwriting on the wall, are growing a little more liberal-minded in their viewpoint toward femininity.

Turkey Opposed

"Even in Turkey, where women threw aside the veil and attained many liberties in one bold move, their uppermost thought is still for dress reform, or dress freedom. The male Turks are bitterly opposing it. The Japanese, both men and women, in large measure, already have adopted American Occidental forms of garb, although Japanese women look much more graceful and prepossessing in their native kimonos. The Japanese royal family always appears in public in American dress.

"Next to emancipation in dress, foreign women desire most the privilege of seeking their own careers, earning their own living. In some countries women and girls are permitted to work in factories, but not for themselves. Husbands and fathers are regularly on hand to collect the pay envelopes. Much of the reverence of foreign women for American men is because they do not interfere with women seeking careers."

Miss Loffel Married To. P. E. Lippincott

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Morton at 421 West Cypress street was the setting for an attractive wedding Sunday, October 12, 1924, at 8 o'clock, when Miss Martha Elizabeth Loffel and Paul Eugene Lippincott, both of Glendale, were united in marriage. Elder R. W. Munson, chaplain at the Glendale Sanitarium, performed the ceremony.

The home was tastefully decorated. Mendelssohn's wedding march was played by Mrs. Cling, of San Fernando, with the violin obligato played by Mr. Cling. The bride made a charming picture, dressed in white crepe de chine with a white veil held in place by a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of bride's roses. Miss Pearl Hodge and Ralph Grounds were attendants. Following the ceremony, luncheon was served. Mr. and Mrs. Lippincott will be at home to their friends after October 30 at 1144 Kingston avenue, Los Angeles. They are spending their honeymoon at Catalina.

MONTROSE NOTES

MONTROSE, Oct. 13.—Members of the Boy Scout troop, which is sponsored by the American Legion, enjoyed a camping trip up to Hansen's lodge in the Big Tujunga over the week-end. Adjutant A. E. Baron of the Verdugo Hills post, No. 288, drove the boys up the canyon, making arrangements for the camp. The following Scouts enjoyed the camp and swimming: John Hansen, Donald Skellie, Sigel Swain, Kenneth Champin and Wesley Rose.

Wives of the local buddies are forming an auxiliary to work with the local post in building the new Legion home. Meeting with Mrs. H. Wertz, the women discussed plans and have now practically all the members needed to start functioning. Thursday of this week the women will meet at the home of Mrs. A. E. Baron on Altura avenue, west of Pennsylvania avenue.

New members to join Verdugo Hills post, No. 288, at its last meeting were Frank Turner, Carl Moore, D. Lorenz, Jack Eimer and W. Reihl. Since the purchase of a lot for the erection of their new home, the buddies are showing more interest in their Legion work, and it is now expected that ranks will be enlarged at every meeting. Ground is to be cleared this week, and the building of the new post hall will be begun at once. The hall is to be situated on the upper end of the lot between Montrose avenue and Manhattan, facing on Fremont avenue.

Officers attending the State commandery of the American Legion on Sunday were Commander R. Sullivan, Adjutant E. A. Baron and J. Lowe.

On account of the increased business, the Eddings Electric store, which was formerly in the Montgomery plumbing shop, has moved into the building at 652-A Honolulu avenue, quarters which were formerly occupied by the Herrick studios and the Claiborne Jewelry Co.

A. M. Guidinger, owner of the Montrose Sam Seelig building, is erecting a garage and real estate office on the northwest corner of Honolulu and Ocean View avenue. Mr. Guidinger resides in La Canada.

Another improvement caused by increased business is the work being done on the Evans garage on the corner of Honolulu and Ocean View avenues. Mr. Evans is having the building stuccoed, new windows, shelves and cases of various sizes put in to hold the new stock of automobile accessories and replacement parts. George Bain, a local builder, has charge of the alterations.

Pupils of the Montrose schools enjoyed the holiday occasioned by the teachers' institute. Parents of all children between the ages of 3 and 13 have been busy during the past week registering them, according to the state law.

Dr. Lucien Turner was agreeably surprised on Saturday night when a group of friends met at her home in honor of her birthday anniversary. The party was the first given in the new home Dr. Turner has erected on Broadview drive, in Sparr Heights.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Meyers and family arrived home this week from their long eastern trip when they spent several months visiting in Minnesota.

T. D. Taylor and son, Vivien, have moved into their new real estate offices at the corner of Waltonia drive and Montrose avenue. The G. G. Howard offices have also been moved from their old Verdugo road location to the C. L. Mead service station.

Plans made for the opening of the new Montrose theatre may have to be altered as the new Wicks organ has not arrived, and Manager Doyle states it may be impossible to install it now in time. However, notice will be given in time for patrons to hold the date open, as a special affair is to be given in honor of the occasion. Potash & Perlmutter, is the opening picture.

Stockholders in the Crescenta Mutual Water Co. will hold the annual election of officers of the board for the coming year tonight in the La Crescenta school auditorium. As there are now 700 stockholders in the company, the officers request everyone who is able to, to be present in person rather than to send in proxies, as much time is saved by personal votes. The meeting will open promptly at 8 p. m.

A new business to open in Montrose in the next two weeks is a beanery. T. H. Devine of New Hampshire, and later of Venice, is at present superintending the building of a special oven for his shop, in which the beans will be baked twenty hours in a steady heat. Mr. Devine will also make a specialty of potato chips, and expects to repeat the success he enjoyed in Venice for seven years with his beanery.

Teachers of Glendale Schools In Institute bought for $100 and went begging at the price.

The principal speaker of the morning was William John Cooper, superintendent of city schools in Fresno. Mr. Cooper spoke along general educational lines and other things interesting to the teachers present.

At the afternoon session Superintendent of City Schools R. D. White presided.

The afternoon was devoted nearly entirely to a lecture given by Dr. Frederick Monsen, artist, explorer and lecturer, who has studied conditions in many countries, and had an interesting collection of photographs.

Dr. Monsen has spent thirty years among the primitive people of the world and in little-known lands, and has a wealth of material that few explorers can equal. He has lectured before many geographical and scientific bodies, both in Europe and the United States and has an enviable reputation as an ethnological and geographical student. He has made a close study of political conditions in Mexico, and the racial endowments of the Indians, who form the bulk of the population, and his lecture was one of the most interesting heard in Glendale.

Another one-day institute will be held in Glendale on November 17, and the county institute will be held in Los Angeles just before Christmas, lasting three days.

Reasons Why Coolidge Should Get Your Vote

Rev. C. R. Norton of 801 East Wilson avenue, Civil war veteran, chaplain of the N. P. Banks post, G. A. R., who has voted for every Republican candidate from Grant down, has given The Glendale Evening News the seven reasons why he is supporting Calvin Coolidge for president. They are:

"Because, in my judgment, he is the man best suited to the position of any before the public; because, under his administration, we are enjoying a goodly measure of success in all lines of enterprise; because of his honesty, sincerity and courage, which appeal to the American citizens; because he stands for law enforcement; because he makes no appeal for support of class; because of his foreign policy, not to enter a league, but to be in the relation of a brother; because of his policy for the protection of American labor."

Dirigible Battles Storm On Journey to America

on the 432nd anniversary of the completion of Columbus' epochal voyage.

A radio message received at 2:20 this morning from Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the air liner, said the ZR-3 was making 50 miles an hour in the teeth of a wet wind.

Another message to International News Service at 4:14 a. m. from Dr. Eckener said, "passing the Azores," indicating that more favorable weather conditions had been encountered.

The first message read:

"Going fast. Reached Biscaya and proceeding toward the Azores at 50 miles an hour against a wet southwestern wind. All's well on board."

"Eckener."

The second message was:

"Passing the Azores. Ship and crew in splendid condition. Please relay our greetings to our wives."

"Eckener."

The dirigible's progress, since its start, amid tears and cheers here Sunday morning, was flashed by wireless back to its home port as the cruiser steered southward, following the course of the Rhine from the fatherland, over Basle, Switzerland, then down the Loire valley to Bordeaux, where it said goodbye to the European mainland.

Silent for Time

Concert programs broadcast by Spanish and French stations interfered with the ZR-3's transmission and broke gaps in the stream of messages by which it reported its progress, according to a dispatch from the dirigible after a period of no word Sunday night.

Pride at the final achievement of the Zeppelin factory and grief at delivery to another country of the last dirigible Germany may construct under the terms of the Versailles treaty, were mingled in the farewell to the big liner as it rose in the fog which blanketed the Zeppelin shed at dawn Sunday.

Above the fog mantle, which extended only to an altitude of 500 feet, the air cruiser found sunshine and the reports received during the first hours of its voyage told of excellent sailing weather.

Unfavorable Winds

The farewell to the European mainland was made at 4:30 p. m. and the next dispatch from the ZR-3 said it was laying a course southwest from Cape Ortegal, at the northwest corner of Spain, toward the Azores.

Officials of the navy bureau of aeronautics said that it would be impossible for the ZR-3 to make the voyage from Europe to Lakehurst, N. J., a distance of approximately 5,000 miles, in 60 hours, as the speed of the ship was limited to 76 miles an hour and it would have to fight unfavorable winds for a part of the trip.

Final orders were issued today to the air stations at Paris Island, S. C.; Langley field, Virginia; Mitchell field, New York, and Boston, to make ready for receiving the ZR-3 should the ship be driven out of its course and be forced to make a landing elsewhere than at Lakehurst.

GLENDALIANS WILL HEAR ARTISTS

L. A. Philharmonic Orchestra To Play at Union High School Friday Night

The history of the Philharmonic orchestra of Los Angeles, which plays at Glendale Union High school next Friday night, forms an important chapter in the chronology of American musical art. Founded only five years ago, through the munificence of W. A. Clark, Jr., it aroused the attention of the leading music critics of the country. Organized by a musical director of such technical accomplishments and interpretative power as Walter Henry Rothwell, it quickly attained a high degree of perfection as to rendition. Music lovers of Glendale are now to have an opportunity to judge for themselves. At the same time a constant lookout for the best instrumentalists over the world has been maintained, and gradually their services have been enlisted.

Eminent Artists Attracted

Today eminent players, occupying high-salaried positions in New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Chicago orchestras, are welcoming an opportunity to become members of the Philharmonic orchestra of Los Angeles, which bids fair to soon become one of the foremost musical bodies of the country.

Already it possesses artistic resources which have resulted in a high standard of musical versatility. This organization not only has at its command one of the biggest repertoires, but it has arrived at a point of interpretative artisty where it presents music of all styles and all countries with tone eloquence and authority of rendition that has received countrywide comment.

The Philharmonic orchestra has become a Southern California institution of which all residents of the Southland may well be proud.

According to police, Dean put up a fight when the officers entered his place, and destroyed a bottle of liquor.

Makes Jump Into Fame

Showing two pictures of MARY LEWIS. Once Mary sang on Broadway, New York. She was in the Follies. Now she has scored a big hit abroad and so, of course, two grand opera companies are seeking Mary's face, form and voice.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—The last time little Mary Lewis sang on Broadway, two years ago, was in the Follies. The next time little Mary Lewis sings in the roaring canyon called "Great White Way," it probably will be at the Metropolitan, in the leading role in an opera. It is a phenomenal jump to make in two short years' time, but Mary has made it. Both the Metropolitan and Chicago grand opera companies are negotiating to bring back to this country the former choir and cabaret singer, who has recently scored a sensational success abroad.

OLD RESIDENT HONORED ON BIRTHDAY

Levi W. Weller, 89, Was Pioneer In L. A., Gained Fame as Teacher

Celebrating the 89th birthday of Levi W. Weller, 1145 Stanley avenue, a dinner was given yesterday at the home of his sister, Mrs. Martha Ebersole in Los Angeles. Guests were: Mr. Weller's three sisters, Mrs. Ebersole, aged 83; Mrs. Mary May, 85, and Mrs. Eva Miller, 72, the youngest of the family, and other relatives.

Mr. Weller is the father of Superior Judge Dana R. Weller and this evening, dinner will be given at Mr. Weller's home here at which will be present Judge Weller, and another son, William, who has been connected with the Los Angeles postoffice department for over thirty years.

Excells in Hay Pitching

Mr. Weller is unusually active for his years. Twenty years ago he discarded glasses when his eyesight was restored. Recently Mr. Weller won a race for "boys" at the old folks' picnic at Sycamore Grove. In the race there was no one under 80 years and one of the entrants was 106. Three years ago Mr. Weller spent some time on a ranch and pitched 800 tons of hay. With him on the crew were men from 20 to 36 years of age and Mr. Weller outpitched all of the younger men, 23 of whom quit because the job was too hard.

Clean living, no meat or tobacco are the things Mr. Weller says are responsible for his long life. He says he expects to pass the century mark and feels as well today as he did fifty years ago. His wife died nine years ago at the age of 78 and for the past three years he has lived in Glendale with Mr. and Mrs. Joel Rhodes, Mr. Rhodes being a brother of Judge Weller's wife.

Mr. Weller was born in 1835 near Dayton, Ohio, and at 16 had finished the country district school, a short course at Antioch college and another at Wittenburg college, and had started teaching school. At 21 he went to Davenport, where he taught in the public schools and later in the State Normal. He also taught for a time at Mt. Ida college

In 1875 he was appointed the forerunner of a colony of 100 families who expected to settle in Los Angeles. Mr. Weller came to Los Angeles that year and met Isaiah W. Hellman, the banker, and the acquaintanceship ripened into a friendship that lasted for years. However, Mr. Weller did not send the word back that would have brought the Iowa families to Los Angeles.

40,000 Pupils

During the years that followed he taught in Los Angeles county schools, but retired from active work about 20 years ago. Since that time Mr. Weller teaches only occasionally and spends much time visiting schools as he is considered an authority on school matters. During his time he has taught over 40,000 scholars and worked with over 6000 teachers. He now contemplates taking a physical culture course as he says some of the children in the neighborhood are proving a little more active than he is.

Mr. Weller met Senator Cornelius Cole years ago in the east and their friendship has lasted for years. Senator Cole is now past 102 and Mr. Weller says he expects to outlive the senator.

KIWANIS TO GIVE KID PARADE

Hallowe'en Night to Be One Of Great Joy for Children Of This City

Judging from the prize list now nearly complete and to be awarded boys and girls of Glendale on Hallo-Kiwanis night, Friday, October 31, more than 100 boys and girls will be the recipients for participation in the great Hallo-Kiwanis parade, according to information given out by the chairman of the prize committee, this morning.

Awards for almost every conceivable kind of costume, float, or "What Not" will be given, so that considerable competition among the "Kiddos" to achieve originality is expected.

Bigger and Better

This year the Kiwanis judges will judge all entries before the parade begins so that everyone is assured of being seen by the judges and the chance to be overlooked is eliminated.

"Bigger and Better" than ever before is the goal towards which the Kiwanis club and its Hallo-Kiwanis committees are striving. There are to be "Oodles" and "Oodles" of surprises and a wonderful program of entertainment to be staged after the parade at the old high school grounds, for both old and young.

Movies Attracted

So great is the interest being taken in the forthcoming event, that it can now be stated that at least two moving picture news syndicates will be on hand with their cameramen. This information is published just as a little hint to all the youngsters so that they can begin now, to plan tieir floats, costumes, or whatever they may select as their part.

In any event, begin now to think about what stunt you will put on for the big night, is the advice given by the prize committee of the Glendale Kiwanis club.

Comment

By GIL A. COWAN

Observation of Columbus day yesterday (and today by those who insist on having holidays) calls to mind the progress made on the American continent in 432 years.

Columbus had a vision of reaching India and China by the way of western oceans. Today that vision is coming true, but not for Spain. Los Angeles, standing at the gateway of the Orient, is now building the trade of which Columbus but slightly dreamed.

The populating of a literal new world, the development of steam rail lines, manufactories, mines, the building of the Panama canal, the conquering of the air have come in the four centuries and one generation since Columbus discovered America.

It is a wonderful chapter in history to review. Indeed, it is American history of which our school children should study with just pride.

Early morning golfers at Oakmont Country club may see deer bounding over the Verdugo hills, it is claimed, but a hazard on the Verde Valley links, near Clarkdale and Jerome, Ariz., may cause some of the faint-hearted golfers to remain at the nineteenth hole. Nothing less than a rattle snake was coiled around a tee, according to reports.

The football season is in full swing with great interest being displayed along the coast. Saturday saw many rooters from Glendale on the sidelines at both high school and college contests.

Tonight the wrestling fans are going to have their inning, while two or three boxing cards a week entertain those who like the fights. And baseball isn't over yet, with Los Angeles bidding for first place in the Coast league.

If you like sporting activity—and who doesn't?—it's all here in a bunch. Try to get a word in sideways on any other subject!

Glendale building is well scattered, but it is of greater volume than ever before. Last year's high mark will be surpassed despite conditions which had a tendency to hamper growth of all communities along the coast.

Cooking School Letters Prize Winners Announced

During the Better Homes, Better Foods school conducted by Mrs. Florence Austin Chase, under the auspices of The Glendale Evening News, at Hahn's auditorium, the management of this newspaper announced that a cash prize of $10 would be given the woman writing the best letter descriptive of the various booths of exhibitors, with $5 to the next best.

The judges announce that first prize goes to Mrs. J. L. Simmons, 324 South Jackson.

When it came to deciding the winner of the second prize the judges were puzzled, for letters from eight women seemed of equal merit. Therefore, the publisher of The Glendale Evening News decided to give $5 to each of the eight women. The writers are Mrs. F. E. Bell, 221 West Lexington; Mrs. Ernest Hackley, 332 Vine street; Mrs. B. Pedersen, 206 East Dryden street; Mrs. E. H. Becktell, 338 North Howard street; Mrs. Schuyler C. Hamilton, 350 Ivy street; Mrs. G. W. Ramsay, 605 North Geneva street; Mrs. Clara Lee, 514 North Chester street, and Mrs. C. Berry, 353 Myrtle street.

Therefore, instead of awarding cash prizes of $15, The Glendale Evening News awards cash prizes totaling $50. Checks are being mailed to all whose names are given.

Interest in the Better Homes, Better Foods school was unusually keen, as evidenced by the crowds attending each day and the letters received in the contest showed that the women closely observed the various displays.

Dr. G. J. Ellwanger and Family Arrive In City

Dr. G. J. Ellwanger, with his wife and son, Erle, arrived in Glendale Friday, October 10. Dr. Ellwanger spent several weeks here in the spring of 1923. He determined at that time that he would return to California and because of that determination he was one of the first members of the Oakmont Country Club. Dr. Ellwanger has been for twenty-five years a dentist at St. Charles, Mo. and his son Erle has just completed a course in law at St. Louis University. They have spent several weeks en route by auto, visiting many points of interest on the way. The Ellwangers are being entertained at the home of Mrs. A. L. Edwards is superintendent, and officers elected are: Philip Goss, president; Marguerite Anderson, vice-president; David Stewart, secretary-treasurer. Sapphires of 20 to 700 carats and of gold, purple, blue and yellow hues, with some stones weighing a half pound, were recently found in a field covering two acres, the largest find ever made in Ceylon.

Straw Vote Indicates Big Coolidge Ballot

A larger vote for President Coolidge than for all other candidates combined, and a larger vote for La Follette than for Davis, are the two outstanding features of the fourth week's tabulation of the straw poll of The Literary Digest.

Of the nearly million and a half votes recorded, Coolidge has 808,340; La Follette, 351,178, and Davis, 275,674. Returns have now been received from forty-two states but The Digest calls attention to the fact that the Southern states have been tardy in returning their ballots. Their returns will swell the Davis vote to a higher figure.

Davis now is leading in nine states and La Follette is still carrying Wisconsin against both of his opponents. The Progressive candidate is running second in twenty-one states and Davis is trailing the leader in twelve.

All previous records for the fourth week of a national poll are broken by the present tabulation of 1,451,591 votes, The Digest states, passing the previous high mark for this stage of any poll by more than 200,000.

Broadway Garage Now Under New Ownership

The Broadway garage now under the managership of Messrs. Stanley and Jarrett, is perfectly adjusted to handle automobile repair work of any description. Mr. Jarrett was formerly connected with the Jellison Motor Co. of Glendale, at which company he cultivated many friends among the hundreds of automobile owners who considered his mechanical ability of the highest in the field.

"Service is our middle name," said Mr. Jarrett, "and if experience and accuracy in work amount to anything, we feel we shall be kept very busy. Of course, we handle all accessories and oils and a full line of automobile parts."

CLUB WOMEN DECIDE ON FUTURE

Glendale Society to Remain Members of A. A. U. W.; Drop L. A. W. U.

Glendale College Women's club is to continue as a branch of the American Association of University Women, it was unanimously decided at the first club meeting of the year, Saturday afternoon, at the home of Miss Charlotte Spier, 615 South Verdugo road.

In reaching the decision, the sixty-odd members present emphasized that to remain a branch of the A. A. U. W. is as vital to the college club as it is for a women's club to affiliate with the General Federation of Women's clubs. Of the 122 members of the Glendale club, sixty-six are eligible for membership in the A. A. U. W. Mrs. F. W. Parr, president, presided over Saturday's meeting, which, although announced as a brief business meeting, and garden party, resolved itself into an important business session, with only a brief time for the social hour.

Another Important Step

In addition to considering the above action, the college women considered remaining affiliated with the Los Angeles Women's University club. The members voted a decisive "no." Another matter considered was a pledge to the Y. M. C. A. fund, which, after much discussion, was set at $200. The women were unanimously in favor of again meeting at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse each month, and also voted in favor of sponsoring one of the Chamber of Commerce dinners.

An invitation was extended to the club members to be guests at the matinee performance Wednesday of the Dobinson players. Favorable comment was heard on the work being done in Glendale by Mrs. Dobinson and her players.

Year's Program

Mrs. J. S. Hayward, as program chairman, announced that during the year there will be five teas and four luncheons.

At each luncheon there will be some speaker of note. In November Mr. Dexter, president of Whittier college, will speak on "The Trend of Modern Education"; at the tea in December Mrs. Max Lynn Green will read some modern drama, and in January Dr. Mildred Stuble of the University of Southern California will speak on "Modern Drama."

Scholarship Awarded

Mrs. S. L. Gillan, scholarship chairman, told of the awarding of the first scholarship of the club. The beneficiary is Miss Emily Collins, who is taking a library course of two years at the University of California, southern branch. An interesting note from Miss Collins was read by Mrs. Parr. The club hopes to raise $300 during the year for this fund.

Favorable action was taken on the creation of civic vocational and college interest among girls' departments. Mrs. E. B. Sutton and Mrs. Frank C. Ayars will be chairmen.

After the business session Miss Jennie Y. Freeman of the Glendale Union High school recited "Up Stream" (Lewisohn). Miss Mildred Hughey sang and Mrs. H. D. Schroeder gave piano numbers.

POLITICAL PARTIES

What an opportunity political campaigns bring to the humorists. Whether or not Elmer Davis, correspondent of the New York Times, professes to be a humorist, his article on political parties in the current number of Harper's is full of biting sarcasm. Mr. Davis holds out no hope to us. He believes in the two-party system, but the parties are made up of fools and crooks. The only visible difference between the two old parties he thinks is that the Republican party contains a slightly higher percentage of crooks and the Democratic party of fools. And the third party has done its best to avoid controversial questions and to prove that it is just like any other party.

"Naturally if there were any real difference between the parties, partisanship would be harder for the individual," this writer goes on to say. "He would have to think. He would have to line up with those who agree with him on the cardinal question and often he would find himself in pretty queer company. He would have to think not only once but every time an issue of consequence came up, and that is more thought than most of us care to give to public affairs." A pretty severe accusation, but not undeserved.

This writer claims that the two-party system is the best means of getting things done, of carrying on the business of government without too much waste or corruption, and he cites cases in Europe where the group system, each group representing some issue, has paralyzed democratic government. "Third parties are born of an issue and fed on discontent," he says. "Commonly they die when discontent disappears. The issue goes on and is fought out, but not on partisan lines. For the object of a party is not the triumph of an issue, but the acquisition and retention of jobs, honors and emoluments by the people who run the party. A party based on an issue is ruined whether it wins or loses. If its issue is finally rejected, the men whose political fortunes are tied up with it are rejected, too. If the issue triumphs there is no further reason for the party. Senator La Follette sees this and, having plenty of discontent to work with, is trying to escape entanglement with an issue."

CO-OPERATIVE MARKETING

"The time has come when we must take strong and definite steps in the future development of co-operative marketing. The agricultural co-operative, when rightly adapted to its work, can obtain certain advantages in distribution." So says Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover.

Distribution is the great problem of the agriculturist today and it puzzles the little rancher as well as the big farmer with his dependence upon world markets and freight rates. How to get the produce to the consumer with as little expense and as little waste as possible, so the grower will get a fair price for his work and the consumer pay a reasonable price for his food is the great economic question before the country today.

The Glendale housewife who can go to one of the many splendid markets in this city where the choicest of fruits and vegetables are on display expects to pay something for the opportunity to get the best and for the service that is rendered her. The market men must take a chance in handling such perishable merchandise, there is a big wastage and they should have a fair profit for bringing these products to the housewife. But the produce passes through too many hands before it gets to the market men, so there is altogether too great a discrepancy between the price the grower receives and what the consumer pays.

The roadside markets promised some relief to families who drive cars but they have long since been "run in the ground" by those who saw the possibility of foisting on the people at regular market prices produce that was hauled from the city out to the country roadside. These roadside markets no longer make any pretension that the produce they offer comes directly from the grower.

Co-operative marketing may be the answer to this problem. There must be some way to save the produce that rots on the ground for those who are going without or are paying exorbitant prices for the same kind of food.

CALIFORNIA'S BUSINESS OUTLOOK

Willis H. Booth, president of the International Chamber of Commerce says that California's business outlook is brighter than that of any other section of the United tates. Such a statement from one who holds such a position should be sufficient to disprove the exaggerated tales regarding distress in California that prevail in some eastern communites.

Wherever there is jealousy there is something to fear and most of the habitual and persistent knocking of California in the east is due to jealousy. Many eastern cities and towns have lost a big per cent of their entire population due to California's lure and they indeed have something to fear.

On the other hand some boosters of California are a little over-zealous. They paint such a roseate picture of conditions that many a man who has a hard time to get along back east thinks he can pack his wife and eight children in the flivver and drive to California and with nothing to start on make a fortune over night. They should know better, but many of them do not and, when they arrive here penniless and jobless, they blame the country. People who have nothing to live on while they are looking for the sort of work they want and can do are the ones who do the greatest injury to California's reputation.

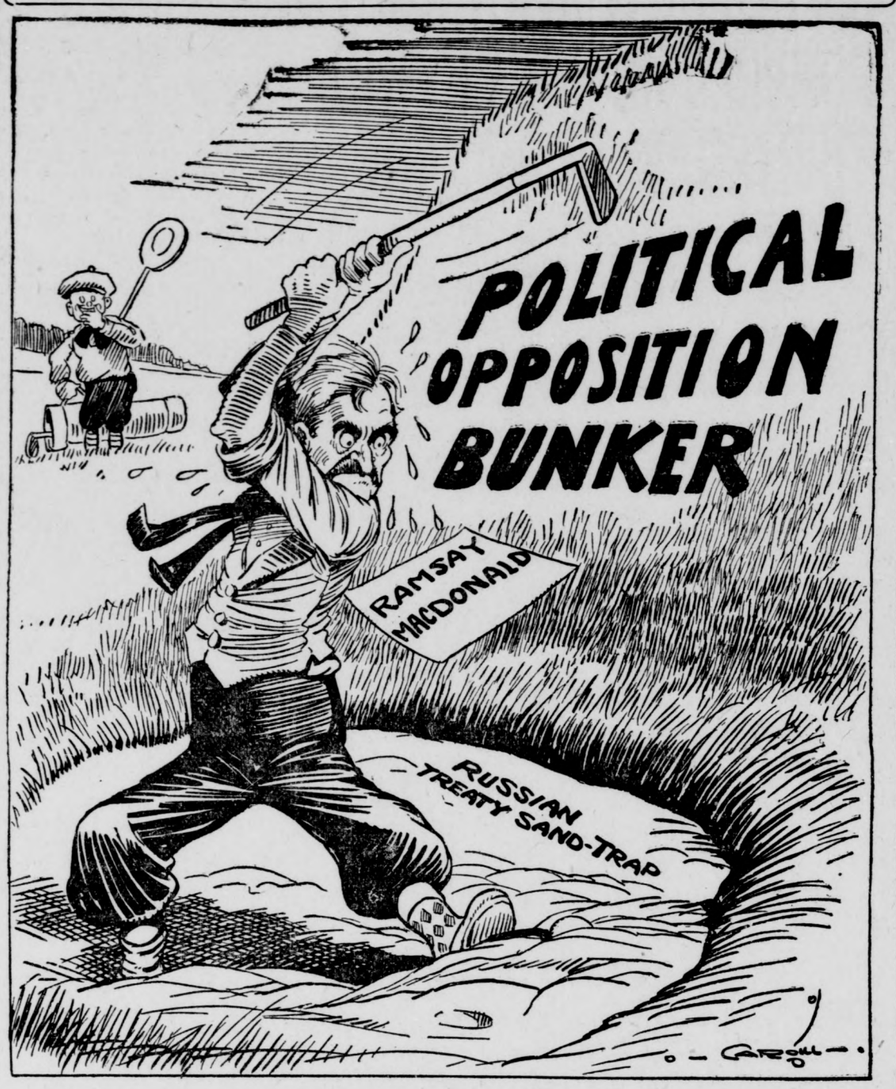
MAC DONALD'S RECORD

Britain's Labor government is virtually at an end although the Labor Party expects to gain strength from its appeal to the people at the forthcoming election which will determine the fate of Premier MacDonald.

As Labor Prime Minister, MacDonald accomplished considerable for his country and has made a good record in the realm of foreign affairs and finance, but he has been able to do little for his party. He held office on sufferance of the Liberal party and was virtually at the mercy of the Liberals for it was known that by a coalition of the Conservatives and Liberals the Labor government could be overthrown at any time and that is what happened. He was criticised by his party for being too much like a Conservative, but MacDonald was too sensible and too clever to be radical.

Man is often compared to an automobile but we have yet to see an automobile endowed with the natural faculty of self repair.

THE BITTER 'OLE!



Mothercraft

By DR. FRANK CRANE

People have to learn other crafts, why is it supposed that anyone is able to understand mothercraft?

This requires quite as much ability and cleverness as anything else. There are few perfect mothers and certainly the demand for motherhood is greater than anything else. A man cannot become an artist, no matter what his ability, unless he first learns how to wield the brush. Nor does any boy with mechanical ability become an engineer without training.

Motherhood is a profession and, as Muriel Wrinch says, "It is necessary that women naturally endowed with the capacity of motherhood should look upon it as a craft."

A mother should be to some extent educated intellectually. Of course she needs a capacity for devotion and self-sacrifice, but the emphasis on intellectual work has not been stressed. She will have charge of growing minds and these must be fed in the right way. The mother is not only the first, she is the most important teacher.

She needs a physical education. Children require longer and shorter hours of sleep, different food and a varying amount of exercise. The mother should understand the principles of physiology.

She must understand the principles of psychology and know the characteristics of the normal child and understand the reason for its ceaseless activity.

She must understand why the child learns numbers more quickly while playing at grocery store than while solemnly counting out beans or counters. She must know enough about the mythology of many countries to understand about princesses and fairies, giants and dwarfs. She ought to know enough of natural history to teach the child to use his eyes and see the wonders about him.

She should understand the training of character and be able to teach the lessons of life to the child so that he will know how to live.

The study of ethics, philosophy and practical experience will be of use to her.

The woman who takes her motherhood seriously ought to take her training seriously, and if she did so we would have happier children. It is her duty to train their instincts and to enforce them by intelligence.

Horoscope

Although this is the thirteenth of the month good luck appears to be fairly certain. According to astrology the sun in benefic aspect dominates. Late in the evening Saturn is adverse.

All the signs indicate the prevailing contest between old and new ideals of life with victory for the more radical views.

Again the seers emphasize the passing of established customs and standards. They who would gain happiness must move with the procession of progress.

This is a fortunate rule for persons with high ambitions and should greatly benefit a candidate for high office.

Scandals that are boomerangs will mark the next few weeks in which there will be many distorted character studies of prominent men.

They who read the future declare that the results of the presidential election will have the element of surprise, but they will not overcome all precedent.

The evening of this day may be especially unsafe for those who take the risk of traveling in dark or dangerous places.

Crimes will continue numerous and organizations of evildoers will gain power, instead of losing it.

Revelations regarding prisons and methods of dealing with offenders are to explain much that has puzzled the average good citizen, astrologers forecast.

Changes among the leaders of organized labor apparently are to be widespread, for the new order of things is to come into the domain of the workers as well as in every other department of human interest and activity.

Good prospects are foreshadowed for those who deal in costly merchandise and there will be many jewels, pictures and art objects purchased.

Persons whose birthdate it is may meet a few business and financial anxieties, but the year should be, on the whole, fortunate.

Children born on this day may be inclined to be indolent and self-centered. For these Libra subjects there is promise of good health and ample opportunities for success.

Nearly 900,000 phonograph records and 17,000 machines are sent from America to foreign countries each year.

Today's Poem

SOMEBODY'S CHILD

Sweet face set in golden hair,
Violet eyes, and cheeks of rose,
Rounded chin, with a dimple there.

Tender eyes where the shadows sleep,
Lit from within by a secret ray—
Tender eyes that will shine like stars
When love and womanhood come this way.

Scarlet lips with a story to tell—
Blessed be he who shall find it out,
Who shall learn the eyes' deep secret well,
And read the heart with never a doubt.

Then you will tremble, scarlet lips,
Then you will crimson, loveliest cheeks;
Eyes will brighten and blushes will burn,
When the one true lover bends and speaks.

But she's only a child now, as you see,
Only a child in her careless grace;
When Love and Womanhood come this way
Will anything sadden the flower-like face?

—Lousie Chandler Moulton.

Who's Who

The same common sense principles she has urged in home management can be applied to the affairs of the state, in the opinion of Mrs. Florence E. S. Knapp, Republican candidate for secretary of state in New York.

Mrs. Knapp, as head of the college of home economics of Syracuse University, has won the attention of eastern housewives with her articles, talks and advice on home management.

She was educated at Syracuse and Columbia Universities and is both a bachelor of science and master of science. For several years she was district superintendent of schools in Onondaga County, N. Y. Later she served a term as assistant director of food supply in New York state.

Making Presidents

By H. Irving King

IN 1852

General Taylor died a year and three months after his inauguration and was succeeded by Vice President Fillmore. The slavery question had become the great question of the day and was agitating Congress. Clay, now again in the Senate, sought to postpone the issue and effect a compromise; and Daniel Webster lost his chance of ever becoming president by throwing in his lot with Clay and the pro-slavery Whigs. Fillmore lost the confidence of the northern Whigs because of his supposed leaning toward the pro-slavery wing, but when it came time to nominate another president, both he and Webster had hopes of the nomination. But the anti-slavery and anti-compromise Whigs united on General Winfield Scott, and he was nominated at the Whig convention held in June of 1852; though not until fifty-three ballots had been taken. In all these ballots Webster was away behind; his competitors were Fillmore and Scott, who at times ran pretty evenly. William A. Graham of North Carolina, secretary of war, was nominated for vice president.

The Democratic convention met in June also, and nominated Franklin Pierce of New Hampshire for president, but not until forty-nine ballots had been taken. The struggle at first was mainly between Cass and James Buchanan of Pennsylvania. It was not until the thirty-fifth ballot that Pierce's name was presented. He received fifteen votes on that ballot and increased every ballot thereafter until he had all but two of the votes of the convention. William R. King of Alabama was nominated for vice president. Pierce had been a member of Congress, United States senator and a general in the Mexican war. He was the hero of the "Young Democracy" and they advocate of compromise on the slavery question The Democratic platform endorsed the "Fugitive Slave Act" and denounced all agitation, in or out of Congress, with regard to slavery.

The Free Soil Democrats called a convention and nominated John P. Hale of New Hampshire for president with George W. Julian as his running mate. Hale was an abolitionist United States senator, prominent in "the cause." He polled 155,825 votes at election time, while Pierce got 1,601,274 and Scott 1,386,580. In the electoral vote Pierce got 254 to Scott's 42. King, who was elected vice president, was sworn into office at Havana, Cuba, where he had gone for his health, and died soon after, upon his return to this country.

FINAL SERMON IS GIVEN AT CHURCH

Rev. L. J. Millikan Bids His Congregation Farewell; Goes to Conference

Taking as his text the words of St. Paul when the apostle delivered his farewell address, Rev. L. J. Millikan, pastor of the Broadway Methodist church, delivered what he declared was his final sermon before the congregation here. Mr. and Mrs. Millikan left for the Pacific conference at Fresno yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Millikan stated in his sermon that he felt the conference would not return him to Glendale. He has been pastor of the church about eighteen months. The first services conducted by Mr. Millikan in Glendale were held in the American Legion hall at 610 East Broadway.

The present church, located at Broadway and Cedar street, was acquired in 1923 by the congregation, but the first services in the church were not held until the first Sunday in October, Mr. Millikan said in his farewell sermon. The night services were in charge of Donald Castlen, who delivered the sermon.

'PASSION OF GOD' IS SERMON TOPIC

Divine Enthusiasm Kindled By Passage of Prophetic Volume, Says Pastor

"The Passion of God" was the topic of the sermon delivered yesterday morning at the Glendale Presbyterian church by Rev. W. E. Edmonds, pastor. The text was taken from Isaiah 42:14: "I have long time holden my peace; I have been still and refrained myself; now will I cry like a travailing woman; I will destroy and devour at once." Mr. Edmonds said:

"This impassioned text has been appropriately and not irreverently termed 'The Passion of God.' But it is not the only passage in this intense, prophetic volume which expresses the majestic appearing of Jehovah as He arises for the vindication of His glory and the deliverance of His people. Again and again, we find the prophet's soul enkindled with divine enthusiasm, as he describes the march of God's glorious purpose toward its end. The picture becomes a sort of heavenly drama, in which the heart of God upon the throne and the Holy Spirit in the church below move in sympathy.

Sin has ceased to stir us. The word is brought in question. Intellectual doubt has pushed aside the simple faith of other days. The world has swept aside the barriers of separation, and the church is sleeping on enchanted ground of self-complacency. This mighty revelation of God for which the prophet cries is not merely a miraculous display of His glory and His power before the nations, but a spiritual revelation of the Holy Ghost. God is waiting to reveal to earnest souls the glory of His grace and power in a measure such as eye hath not seen. Shall we meet His challenge? Shall we send up the cry until the heavens open, and God comes down in the revelation of His presence, until the mountains of opposition melt away, and His mighty transforming power goes forth into agency of His works, and once more His church stands forth, fair as the moon, clear as the sun, and terrible as an army with banners'?"

Good Retail Stores An Asset to Any Community

A writer in a National magazine says. "Manifestly good retail stores are an asset to any community." He tells how a large middle-western manufacturing concern determined to establish a branch in Texas. The vice president investigated a number of places and the choice finally narrowed down to two towns. They seemed to offer equal advantages from a manufacturing and distributing standpoint and the Chambers of Commerce of both cities were both active in their efforts to secure the plant which would add several hundred well-paid workers to the population.

While walking down the main street of one of these towns with his wife he asked her where she would rather live. She answered, "I believe I would rather live here. I have done a little shopping in both places, and on the whole these stores are a little more up-to-date than the stores in the other town."

The scale was tipped in favor of the town that had the best-looking stores.

The retail stores are more often than not the deciding factor when a family considers locating in a new town. How important, then, for a city with the ambition to grow to have fine stores.

And who is to maintain these stores? It is entirely a matter of local patronage. Fine buildings, luxurious furnishings, large and varied stocks of merchandise, unusual service and reasonable prices attract the outsider, but the merchant cannot maintain such an establishment without business.

The matter resolves itself into a question of Community Pride. It takes wide-awake merchants, it is true, to put up the front necessary to Community Growth, but they cannot do it without the help of the people, no matter how progressive they may be.

The advertisers on this page know they must have the support of the people in their campaign for a Greater Glendale and through these columns they are making an appeal to your Community Loyalty and Pride.

SHENANDOAH POSTPONES JOURNEY

Dirigible Expected to Leave San Diego Tomorrow for Hop to Washington

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 13.—The navy dirigible Shenandoah, delayed here because of repairs, again hung idly to its 174-foot mooring mast today, and is not scheduled to leave for Camp Lewis, Wash., until tomorrow at 7:30 a. m.

Commander Zachary Lansdowne, in charge of the Shenandoah, issued a statement declaring the repairs to the broken aft girder, sustained Friday night, as well as the radio apparatus, will have been completed today, and the giant air liner will be made ready before nightfall today to push off from here the first thing tomorrow.

Hangar Facilities Hamper

"The damage sustained could have been repaired in a very short time had the Shenandoah been in an airship hangar," Commander Lansdowne's statement read, "but because she is tied to a mooring mast the work has been difficult. Complete repairs have been accomplished while the ship hung in the air for the first time in history.

"Our route north will be over Los Angeles, Pasadena, San Francisco, Portland, and as many cities as practicable at that time."

Captain T. T. Craven, commander of the naval air station here, told International News Service that the Shenandoah probably could leave today, but she might encounter a storm in the northwest that is reported sweeping toward this country from the Alaskan coast.

Washington Radioed

It was revealed today that, after the Shenandoah's radio apparatus was repaired, she had been in communication with Washington, D. C., and Hartford, Conn. This was considered remarkable in view of the fact that the giant air liner's radio operates on a ninety-meter wave length.

Lieutenants H. H. Wyatt and C. E. Rosenthal took off from here at 6 a. m. today in a De Haviland plane for Camp Lewis, to complete plans there for mooring the Shenandoah. They will stop at Clover field, Santa Monica, and Eugene, Ore.

Blue Bloods At L. A. Fair

One of the many horses entered in the jumping events is Grey Leg, owned by Margaret Doreghty. Grey Leg is considered one of the best steeplechase performers in the Southland. Grey Leg is only one of the many pure-bred horses to be seen in action during the fair, which opens today.

With nearly a hundred of the fastest horses in the west entered in the fourteen harness races and with equally as many others waiting the barrier in the running races the big meet to be held in connection with the Los Angeles County fair which opens today at Pomona and continues for the balance of the week, promises to furnish plenty of excitement for race lovers.

More than 33,000 square feet of floor space in the biggest tent ever erected on the Pacific coast is set aside for the agricultural and horticultural department with 10 of the leading counties of the state competing. Seven of the largest poultry associations in the Southland will meet there.

FROM EAGLE ROCK

EAGLE ROCK, Oct. 13.—The police force of this community has emerged from the sub-station stage and now boasts a full division of forty-eight men, in charge of Captain J. J. Mart, former head of the crime prevention bureau.

According to Captain Mart, who made a thorough survey of the Eagle Rock district and checked up on the equipment now furnished here, nothing definite can yet be said as to the probable changes.

"I do not intend to jump at conclusions, but with my short tour of inspection I have already gained several ideas as to the needs of this district," Captain Mart stated in an interview with a representative from the Sentinel. "It is my opinion now, that Eagle Rock is the logical place for the police headquarters for this district, including a wider territory than is now being policed from this section. However, the details in the changes of the police plans will be announced later, when the boundaries under the re-districting are established."

There will be a card party and musical tomorrow afternoon and night for St. Dominic's church, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Ricker of 2525 Colorado boulevard, it is announced. The afternoon games will begin at 2:15 o'clock and the evening games at 8:15. The public is invited. Refreshments will be served.

Western Rangers of Eagle Rock participated in the annual "Cone Day" drive for funds on Saturday, October 11.

To India! That is where Miss Louanna McNary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. McNary of Eagle Rock, is going. She is being sent as a kindergarten teacher through the United Presbyterian church to the inter-denominational school at Mussourie, India.

Miss Marjorie Ball has left the staff of the Eagle Rock library to take the course for children's librarian at the Los Angeles Public Library training school. She expects to return in the spring to resume her work at Eagle Rock. Miss Beatrice Howard has been transferred from the Boyle Heights branch library to Eagle Rock.

TUJUNGA NOTES

TUJUNGA, Oct. 13.—Activities have been resumed by the Valley Center Improvement league, following the summer vacation period. Community improvements embracing street signs, traffic buttons, street improvement and general welfare were acted upon. Following the custom of the league the birthdays of the following members were celebrated: Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Kirschman, Mr. Wakefield, Otto Hubner and Mrs. Thompson.

Preliminary plans for a community chest for charitable relief work, launched in September, will be furthered at a meeting called for October 15 at the Tujunga school auditorium, according to announcements made by a committee composed of: W. F. Keeler, H. H. Breidt, T. C. Bludworth, L. H. Fisher, Rudolph Henry. All organizations of Tujunga, Sunland, Montrose, La Crescenta, Verdugo City and La Canada are invited to send one representative each to the meeting. The invitation and plans include civic, social, fraternal, commercial and religious organizations. The meeting is called for 7:30 p. m.

Gas mains being laid by the Southern California Gas company have been connected from Roscoe to Valley Center, between Sunland and Tujunga and will be in place as far as Tujunga this week.

Two students of Occidental college, Luther Hoobyar and Joseph Roucek, were the principal speakers Sunday night at community church services. They also entertained with instrumental and vocal music.

One house fire and three small brush fires are all that appear in the September report of Fire Chief Harry Rice.

The infant son, two weeks old, of Mr. and Mrs. Gray of Sunset Boulevard, died last week at a Glendale hospital.

GERMAN LOAN TO BOOST BUSINESS

Much of Amount Turned Over To That Country Will Find Way to America

By J. C. ROYLE
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—The German loan undoubtedly will be one of the important business factors of the coming week. The investors of the nation have been thoroughly sounded out by the bond houses and investment bankers handling the issue. There is no doubt whatever as to the success of the loan. It will go with a rush and subscriptions probably reach the enormous total of $1,000,000,000 or ten times the amount of the loan. But investment bankers, naturally anxious to turn an honest penny, have been busy determining "what the traffic will bear" before making announcement of the offering price. The bonds will be sold under original subscriptions to yield 7¾ per cent.

There seems little doubt that the opening and closing of the books for subscriptions will be no more than a formality. Investment houses all over the country have signified their willingness to take on sufficient allotments to assure this and each house in turn, probably, will have little difficulty in distributing them to individual investors. So confident of this are many traders that the first quotation on the bonds, "when, as and if issued" is expected to be made on the New York Curb exchange promptly at the opening of the market Tuesday and is also expected to show a premium over the issue price.

Real Test of Issue

The real test of the issue will come, not from such speculative dealings, but from the way the bonds behave after the initial flurry is over and the immediate market support incident to over-subscription is withdrawn.

The placing of this loan means far more to business and industry in the United States than the mere investment of around $100,000,000. On its face the investment of this sum would indicate withdrawal of the amount from commercial and industrial uses in America. It is sure, however, that a very goodly portion of this sum eventually will find its way back into the pockets of American producers in payment for raw and semi-finished materials.

What the consummation of the loan will establish principally, is what Germany has up her industrial and commercial sleeve. There is every reason to believe that Germany has not stood still since 1918. That country, today, is overrun with chemists, engineers and masters of other branches of science.

Young Studying Science

The army has practically been closed as a career to young Germans of good birth. Instead they have been educated in the sciences of industry which have always held a high place in the German social scale. There have not been near enough jobs for these young men. Consequently the majority here turned to individual specialties in their lines. Families have been content to have them so engaged even without remuneration to keep them in the favored social class.

What these men have developed or originated in industrial processes are facts which many American manufacturers would be glad to know. These manufacturers realize that this country in aiding to rehabilitate Germany not only is providing another market for American raw materials but is raising up a competitor for American goods in world markets.

Highest peak in the Black Hills is Harney, which towers 7,216 feet.

CHAPTER LXXVI

"We can't go back, Butterfly," Hilary had said. "But sometimes I think the future is only a repetition of the past. Konrad and I will come rushing in, in September, and somebody will get his darling soft little face kissed off by his Aunt Hilary, and in two minutes you won't know that we ever went away! And then, perhaps—well, let's suppose that Craig is desperately ill. Then you'll say to me, 'Ah, if I could only go back to April, when you and Konrad left us, before the baby came, if I could only show Craig how I love him, how happy I was to be just alone with him then!'"

"I see what you mean," Dora had said, with an awakening face. And now, at one o'clock, she was lying, a vision in her laces and ribbons, with a luncheon table beside her, awaiting Craig's arrival, and with the most serene and affectionate of smiles to greet him.

Craig looked his appreciation of the delicate handkerchief linen robe that showed Butterfly's white-clad feet and the embroidery of foamy underpetticoats. In the loose frills at her breast were lavender and lemon ribbons; Butterfly's heavy hair was pushed back in a rich mass from her rather pale face, and her brown eyes looked big and childish in faint circles of shadow.

"You were wise not to attempt it, my dear; there was a mob sailing, and all sorts of bumps and delays even getting to the ship!" Craig said. "Mother and I got there about eleven; the boat was half an hour late sailing—Konrad was there, in wild spirits, and, of course, Hilary was superb. I must tell you about the high spirits. You know I went up to the studio at nine this morning, to bring Hilary here to see you, and to arrange some little business matter for him; we have the same broker, and Konrad wanted to give me a check for him. He went in to the phonograph people a few days ago, to get his semi-annual check, and he had his income tax on his mind—it was a mere formality, but I said I'd attend to it all. Well, I got there at nine, the trunks were gone, of course, Hilary was opening letters and drinking coffee with her hat on, and her big Chinese coat over her suit-skirt, that sort of thing—old Von Mandescheid was having a spasm in one corner with the storage man, and Konrad had just come out, and was sitting opposite Hilary. His check from the phonograph people had come—it was over ten thousand dollars. He began to talk business to me. Just then—as luck would have it!—he got a long letter from a correspondent in Europe, a touch, of course, children starving, pictures of refugees, a half million women and children will starve to death unless America hurries—you know the sort of thing?"

"I know," Dora said, nodding. "Your mother sent five hundred only a few weeks ago, and didn't we send something?"

"Exactly. Well, Kronski went crazy. He tore his hair; he wouldn't drink his coffee, he walked the floor. His people were starving, and he was getting checks of this size, he was talking of investments, of income tax, while children looked for bread, and bread did not come! God—God—he had known what hunger was, he had known what it was only to wish warmth, food, and he was sailing for Europe with his bride——"

"I know how it is," Butterfly smiled, shaking her head. "Poor Hilary! But she likes it, she understands him."

"Understands him! Listen. He came to her side, knelt down, buried his head in her lap, and groaned. Suddenly he seized the check. 'My darling,' he said, 'here is bread! How much may I send to these little ones?' Hilary put her arm about his neck. 'Why, send it all, dear, of course,' she said, calmly. 'We don't need it. Send it just as it is!'"

"I thought you said they were going to invest it, pay their income tax out of it, Craig?" Dora asked, with a faint frown.

"They were! But what of that? Konrad burst into tears; he almost smothered Hilary. 'She says to send it all!' he sobbed, 'that is my wife!' The tears were running down his face, you never saw such a scene. He pressed the check into my hands. 'You will send it all that the children may eat!' he shouted. Hilary laughed and cried, we all did. 'An suppose my London concert is a failure?' he asked her—you know he thinks every concert is going to be a failure!—'Then there will be no money for gowns, no money for motor-car, to show you my country!' Hilary said: 'Be sensible, dear. Then I shall cook for you, and you shall take your fiddle, and we will wander through the countryside, giving concerts as we go!'"

"And she would do it, too!" Dora said, her eyes shining. "But, Craig, surely, surely Konrad has lots of money?" she asked, faintly apprehensive.

"He's making it hand over fist, of course. But if he's going to hand it out like this——"

"I don't think it's right," Dora said, after a thought. "They ought to think of their children!"

"Well, it seems to me they should—drink your milk, Butterfly," Craig said, mildly, by this time in the full enjoyment of his luncheon.

"Because you know they'll have a pack of them," Butterfly went on, with smiling eyes on space. It was delicious to agree with Craig, to have him approve of her point of view, even as opposed to Hilary's. "Did many people see them off?" she resumed.

"Well, quite a few. Hilary looked gorgeous, and Konrad, as I said, was like a boy. Hilary was jabbering English, French and Italian with the weirdest-looking crew of geniuses I ever saw. Kronski has Kostia, of course. Mother told Hilary that she ought to have a maid, and Hilary said she would have got one, but she was afraid that she couldn't suit a maid. But she did say that she might pick up a middle-aged Frenchwoman—'one of my cousins, maybe,' she said. She's the most extraordinary woman; she can say that sort of thing to any one, and get away with it. Cy Dwyer was there, pretended to faint away on the wharf, and called out: 'Captain, that's Helen's child, my long search is over!' He was really funny. And Vi was there, seeing that Italian Count who's been here, and vamping a young Englishman. It was broiling hot; they were still loading luggage, and everything was in a mess! I tell you, we're going to have summer, after all. It was sweet, driving back; the whole city seems to smell of flowers! Well, we'll miss the dear old girl, won't we?"

"You love her, don't you, Craig?" Dora asked, wistfully.

"I should suppose everyone loved her. I don't know what it is, exactly," Craig answered, "but she is a marvellou woman. I looked at her today, and thought of her, plugging along in Uncle John's office, helping you, teaching herself the Lord only knows how and when, working steadily ahead from one point to another! And she's not stopped yet."

DOBINSON PLAYERS

"The Country Cousin," Booth Tarkington's delightful comedy of small-town life, will open at the Tuesday Afternoon club theatre on Wednesday, October 15, for a two weeks' run, it is announced by the Dobinson Players. Gertrude Kellar and Richard Ehlers will have the leading roles.

This play was a big New York hit and has never failed to please audiences, wherever it has been shown. Judging from the workmanlike way these players put over "A Prince There Was," Glendale theatre-goers can expect real entertainment of a high order from the Dobinson Players in "The Country Cousin."

THE GATEWAY

Paulette Duval, famous Parisian danseuse, makes her debut in motion pictures in America in "Monsieur Beaucaire," the Paramount production of Booth Tarkington's story with Rudolph Valentino in the title role. Miss Duval, who is known in Paris as "La Belle Duval," because of her beauty, has been in this country but five months. She came to dance in the Ziegfeld Follies and was seen at the New Amsterdam theatre for three months.

Miss Duval was born in Boan-Sualeguaichu, Republic of Argentine, South America. At an early age she went to Paris and later found her place on the Parisian stage as a dancer. She has been featured in revues at the Casino de Paris, the Ambassador and Alhambra theatres.

Her work in "Monsieur Beaucaire," which is now showing at the Gateway theatre today and tomorrow, while the first picture work she has done in the United States, is not her premiere before the camera. She appeared in an American made picture "Nero," which was made in Italy. She had the role of the Empress of Poppee.

Miss Duval does not speak English and it was necessary for Director Sidney Olcott to have an interpreter at his side, while filming scenes for the picture in which she appears.

THE T. D. & L.

Marion Davies in "Yolanda" continues at the T. D. & L. Theatre.

THE GLENDALE

Emory Johnson's "The Spirit of the U. S. A." continues at the Glendale Theatre.

Uncle Wiggily

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE MOLASSES BOTTLE

"When you go adventuring today, Uncle Wiggily," spoke Nurse Jane, the muskrat lady housekeeper, to the bunny rabbit gentleman one morning, "I wish you would take the molasses jug and have it filled."

"Filled with what?" asked Mr. Longears, trying to be funny.

"Oh, have it filled with vinegar if you like," answered Nurse Jane with a sly smile. "Only if you get vinegar in the jug instead of molasses, I can't make you an apple pudding—for I need molasses to flavor the pudding properly."

"Then molasses you shall have," promised the bunny gentleman. "As soon as I have finished shaving I'll hop to the store with the molasses jug and get it filled."

But, somehow or other, when he had put soapy lather on his face and scraped off his whiskers, Uncle Wiggily forgot all about the molasses jug. Perhaps he got some soap in his mouth, and he was thinking about that more than about apple pudding.

Anyhow he had hopped a mile or more away from his hollow stump bungalow before he remembered about the molasses jug.

"Well, how am I going to carry the molasses home without the jug?" said Uncle Wiggily to himself. "It would never do to pour the sticky molasses into my pocket, nor yet put the treacle, as Alice in Wonderland would call it, into my tall silk hat. But I know what I can do. I can ask the grocery cat to lend me a jug to hold the molasses I shall buy of her."

Reaching the grocery store, kept by the grocery cat, Uncle Wiggily hopped in and said, most politely:

"I want some sticky-icky sweetie-eetie molasses, if you please, but I forgot the jug. Could you lend me one? I can't carry molasses in my hat or pocket."

"I haven't a jug to lend you," mewed the grocery cat, "but I can fill a bottle with molasses, and you can put the bottle in your pocket."

"That will do very nicely," said Uncle Wiggily. And soon, with the bottle of molasses in his pocket, he was hopping back home. But half way there he felt tired, so, finding a pile of dried leaves in the forest he stretched out on them and went to sleep. And while he slept the cork popped out of the bottle in his pocket and out ran the molasses like a boy out of school.

Down on the dried leaves trickled the sticky molasses. Uncle Wiggily rolled over, this way and that way in his sleep, and the molasses covered leaves stuck to him. They stuck to his back, to his sides and to his head. Oh, he was all covered with leaves and molasses.

And when a lot of molasses leaves stuck to his nose they tickled the bunny and he awakened. Near him was a spring of water, clear as a looking glass, and when the bunny saw himself he cried:

"Oh, what has happened me? I must be turning into a tree with so many leaves clinging to me! Then he felt the sticky molasses running out of his pocket and he knew what had happened. "Oh, whatever shall I do?" he sighed.

"We'll clean the molasses off you!" cried some tiny voices on the ground, and, looking down, Uncle Wiggily saw ten million ants. "We love sweet, sugary molasses," said the ants. "We will nibble it off you and then the leaves will no longer stick." So the ants crawled all over the bunny, and, though they tickled him a bit with their legs, still he didn't mind, for they were doing him a favor.

And soon the ten million ants ate off all the molasses, and the bunny was free from the sticky leaves and no longer looked like a tree. Back he hopped to the store, getting more molasses in the bottle, and this time the grocery cat put the cork in tightly so it didn't pop out.

Thus Uncle Wiggily safely reached his bungalow with the bottle of molasses, and Nurse Jane made the apple pudding, and very fine it was, if you will take my word for it.

So every one was happy, especially the ten million ants, and if the bed doesn't stand on one leg and spill the rag doll out on her nose I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the turtle.

FAINTING (SYNCOPE) No. 1

She was a tall, extremely well groomed, interesting looking woman—somewhat overweight—to the casual observer about 35, but to my practiced eye, nearer 45. She and her companion sat directly in my line of vision as we dined in a popular New York restaurant, and I could observe her very closely without appearing rude.

I noticed that she ate very little and after a taste of each course smoked a cigarette. Suddenly her face became chalky pale. She leaned her head on her hand and murmured a few words to her escort. Abruptly, getting up, she walked to the nearest door and before she was over the threshold she fell, totally unconscious. Two waiters, and her visibly agitated companion, gathered her up (it wasn't easy) and took her to a private dining room, where they proceeded to prop her in a chair before an open window. I had followed, naturally, being a physician.

I quickly had them put her on the floor with her feet on the chair so her head would be lower and the force of gravity could help the blood supply back to the brain. I slapped her face and chest, not too gently, with a napkin dipped in ice water, while her companion fanned her. After a moment she opened her eyes, smiled wanly, and said she was all right. Scarcely had the words ceased when she further ejaculated: "Oh, I feel so nauseated!" And before anything could be brought her, the inevitable happened!

At her request, the waiters and her companion left her with me. She told me she had never fainted but one before in her life, and that was when she was a young girl and was requested to sit with a friend who had had an operation and the fumes of the ether were still present. She was sure she was perfectly healthy and could not understand why she should faint. "How about nicotin poisoning?" I suggested.

"Well—maybe . . . I'm a writer and I have acquired the habit of smoking almost continuously. I'll confess I have noticed my heart beats irregularly at times and I have begun to have less energy and, what's worse, less interest in my work. You think . . . ?"

"Yes, I'm sure. Nicotin poison. Tobacco heart. That, undoubtedly, coupled with acute indigestion, is the reason for this faint."

"Well, I'm through, Doctor. This experience is too humiliating to repeat, especially that nausea!"

Fainting—"syncope"—is taken from the Greek word, meaning the "cutting off." It is defined as a transitory condition resulting from a sudden lowering of the blood pressure, which causes cerebral anemia and a loss of consciousness. The English word "faint" is of French origin, and is probably connected with "feign" and "feint," with the idea of an imitation of death. The word "faint" includes the preliminary state of dizziness, as well as the actual unconsciousness. The word "swoon" is an Anglo-Saxon word and is used synonymously with "syncope" and "fainting."

Fainting, according to old literature, used to be the favored indoor sport of th fashionable young lady, so much so that it was almost considered physiological. Any trifling shock was sufficient to precipitate a graceful lapse into unconsciousness. The modern girl seldom if ever faints. In the first place, she doesn't wear the vise-like corsets that her great grandmother did. She dresses more hygienically and gets more outdoor exercises and it takes considerable to shock her.

Tomorrow we'll finish the talk on Fainting.

Tomorrow—Fainting (Syncope) No. 2.

Oeufs Farcis (Hot Eggs)—Boil four eggs hard. Remove shells and cut each egg in half lengthwise. Remove yolks and mash them with one teaspoon of soft butter, seasoning well with salt, pepper and chopped parsley. Now add to the yolks, one generous slice of white bread which has been soaked in one large cup of sweet milk till soft, and then broken small. Fill the halved egg-whites with this mixture. Butter a baking dish and spread the remainder of this yolk mixture over the bottom of the dish, then place the stuffed, halved egg-whites on it. Sprinkle with buttered bread crumbs and put the dish into a moderate oven to bake for 30 minutes. Serve hot.

Potage Permentier: (Potato Soup). Pare four white potatoes and cut them small. Cut the white part of four leeks down the center and wash well, then cut into cubes. Put these leek pieces into a saucepan with a piece of butter the size of a walnut and let cook slowly for eight minutes, then add one and one-half quarts of water, the potato pieces, and one teaspoon of salt. Let simmer for about 40 minutes, or till leek and potato pieces are tender, then skim these out and press them through a sieve. Return this puree to the water in which the two vegetables were boiled, add one cup of hot, sweet milk, a few cubes of fried bread, more salt if necessary, a pinch of pepper, and a piece of butter the size of an egg. Serve hot.

Winter Feed Assured California Live Stock

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 13.—With normal rainfall this autumn, there is sufficient feed on hand to sustain the live stock of the state through the winter and early spring, it was declared today by E. E. Kaufman, agricultural statistician, in his renort to the federal and state departments of agriculture.

"Live stock, as a whole, has thus far come through a very distressing year in remarkably good condition. In the foothills and mountains the feed, though extremely short seems to have been very nutritious.

"In some areas such concentrates as cotton oil cake and low grade raisins have been fed along with cheap roughage as merely a carrying ration, while some feeders have finished stock for market on such feed." Kaufman declared that a conservative estimate of the production of all hay in California in 1924 is 4,532,000 tons.

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—Nineteen twenty-four is destined to be the greatest building year in the history of the United States. Figures gathered from 1000 cities throughout the country by the Indiana Limestone Quarrymen's association show that $3,420,000,000 worth of construction was done during the first eight months of the present year.

WASHINGTON ONLY SQUAD RUNNING TRUE TO FORM

HUSKIES WIN 144 POINTS TO DATE

Andy Smith, However, Will Whip Bunch In Shape; May Spring Surprise

By ELLIS H. MARTIN
For International News Service.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 13.—On the basis of pre-conference game results this may prove a season of football upsets on the Pacific coast.

But one team appears to be running true to dope and that is Washington. Already the Huskies have piled up a total of 144 points and have not been scored upon.

The usually strong Whitman eleven was their 75 to 0 victim Saturday. The northern eleven was strongly picked by many football critics on the rather nebulous basis of "paper form" to cop conference honors and at the rate it is going it may do just that.

Cardinals Lucky

Stanford, however, was favored by many as the "wonder" team of the coast this season. Saturday the Cardinals were lucky to pull out a 7 to 0 win over Olympic club. Injuries threaten to wreck the most promising eleven in several years and cap with disaster the first season of Pop Warner's personal direction of the Stanford squad.

Ernie Nevers, all-American fullback timber, is still on crutches, from an injury sustained in Stanford's opening game. Murray Cuddeback, right half, is out with badly bruised shoulders. Charles Johnston, tackle, and Art Thomas, ends, are out with crippled knees.

Out for Season

Gilbert Wheat, half-back, struck on the head in practice is out for the season. George Baker, regular center, out of the game eight days is still on the hospital list. Hunt Mitchel, quarterback, is carrying his arm in a sling and Captain Jim Lawson is nursing severe facial cuts and bad bruises.

California with little prospects is rapidly being whipped into shape by Andy Smith and may provide the surprise of the season. Pomona which held U. S. C. to two touchdowns was defeated by the Bears, 28 to 0.

University of Southern California appears to be running into expected form, trimming Arizona 29 to 0.

Western Conferences Teams Show Strength on Saturday

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Defeats of the Navy and Cornell, a scoreless tie for Princeton, Yale's last period victory over Georgia, and evidence of combined strength shown by Western conference teams, were the outstanding features of Saturday's football returns. In the latter case, big ten members gave evidence of strength for the first time in years.

Iowa and Ohio State remained in the running by playing a scoreless tie, the heat hampering their offensives.

Harvard's Future Bright

HOWARD GEHRKE and JACK HAMMOND are counted upon by the Crimson followers to lead Harvard's team to victory in the football games this season, and the days of Brickley and Mahan are expected to be revived once more, for both Gehrke and Hammond are stellar kickers.

HARVARD DOWNED THEIR OPPONENTS MANY TIMES BY KICKING ALONE
HOWARD GEHRKE
JACK HAMMOND
BRICKLEY AND MAHAN WERE HARVARD'S BEST KICKERS. IN 1913 BRICKLEY KICKED A 15 TO 5 DEFEAT INTO YALE

By NORMAN E. BROWN
Written for The Evening News

The return to Harvard's grid squad, after an absence of a year, of Howard Gehrke, and the punting of Jack Hammond has given rise in the hearts of Harvard folk to the hope that the Crimson is about to return to the halcyon days again.

By the halcyon days are meant those glorious fall afternoons when Charley Brickley was booting Yale into submission or when Eddie Mahan was humbling Princeton with his powerful toe.

Gehrke gave every indication of becoming a grid great two years ago, only to find himself ineligible for football a year ago, when Harvard needed him. He had already won a name for himself as a kicker.

His kicking doesn't seem to have suffered in the year's layoff. His punting and drop-kicking so far this season have come up to expectations. He will devote his efforts mainly to drop and placement kicking, however.

Jack Hammond is destined to do most of the punting. Hammond, the only man in Harvard now who boasts of varsity letters in three major sports, is getting distance in his kicking that brings joy to Harvard fans.

Harvard's grid history is sprinkled with great kickers. The greatest kicking exhibition in the career of the Crimson on the grid was that of Charley Brickley against Yale in 1913.

Harvard defeated Yale 15 to 5 that year, due to Charley's educated toe.

Brickley booted a goal from placement from the 38-yard line and drop kicked goals from the 30, 25, 23 and 20-yard lines.

Princeton felt the wrath of Brickley's toe two years. In the game of 1912 Charley booted a placement from the 47-yard line and the following year kicked a 23-yard placement and two drop kicks.

The younger element of college grid followers still recall Horween's 35-yard drop kick that beat Princeton in 1916, and Eddie Mahan's 41-yard placement kick against the Tiger eleven in 1915.

Cowling, against Princeton in 1883, drop kicked a goal from the 55-yard line. Burnett, playing against the University of Pennsylvania in 1898, booted a placement from the 48-yard marker. Marshall's 45-yard drop against Yale in 1901 is among the long kicks in the game's history.

Mason, in '79, scored a 40-yard goal against Princeton. Brewer's two goals from the 35-yard line against Cornell in 1895-1896 were the high spots of those classes. Cochran's boot against Dartmouth, Brown's against Cornell in '96, Kennard's 30-yard boot that beat Yale in 1908, Daly's against Dartmouth in 1899, Lewis's against Dartmouth in 1910, are other kicking feats that have made Harvard's halls, stands and campus agog in by-gone years.

FOOTBALL QUESTION BOX

If you have some question to ask about football—
If you want a rule interpreted—
If you want to know anything about a play—
Write Lawrence Perry, for fifteen years an authority on the game as writer and official. If you want a personal reply enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Otherwise your question will be answered in this column.
ADDRESS: Lawrence Perry, Special Football Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, 814 World Building, New York.

QUESTION—Is there any sense in sending a play up the sideline when a team is close to the side of the field?

ANSWER—Very frequently a play is sent to the sideline so that the runner may carry the ball out of bounds and his team thus be permitted to move it out into the field.

But while the chances of a serious attempt to gain on a play close to the sidelines are not too good, yet when skillfully launched in the way of a surprise they have often succeeded beyond expectation.

In the Princeton-Harvard game of 1919 when the two teams were jammed up against one side of the field Strubing, the Princeton quarterback, made a valuable game at a crucial time by tossing a forward pass over the line to a receiver running straight down the side lines.

Walter Eckersall made one of his famous runs when the Chicago eleven — playing Wisconsin — was close to the sideline.

Eckersall fell back as though for a punt and the Midway team was aligned in punt formation. The position of the ball, the down and the muddy conditions all indicated a punt.

Yet when Eckersall received the ball, after feinting a punt, he deftly stepped between the opposing end and the sideline and carried the ball deep into Badger territory, from his own 20-yard line before he was downed.

The tricky field general is always liable to pull something even when his team is crowding the sideline.

QUESTION—Suppose on a kick-off there is a crowd behind the goal and the ball goes into the crowd. The kicking side players go down the field and scramble into the crowd with the players of the receiving side, both trying to get the ball. A player of the kicking side discovers and falls on it. Does he get a touchdown?

ANSWER—No, he gets a touchback. Exactly the same decision is rendered as when the kickoff goes into a stand back of the goal. In each case the ball is automatically a touchback.

QUESTION—Suppose a team defending its goal punts from behind its goal line. The punt is blocked and goes among the spectators or into a stand. A player of the side blocking the punt gets the ball. Does he get a touchdown?

ANSWER—No, he gets nothing for his act since in such case as that, presented above a safety against the team whose punt was blocked is automatically effected. If players would study more deeply the rules covering balls going out of bounds there would be fewer wild and footless scramblings and fewer injuries.

WHITE SOX PLAY GILMORE OIL TIE

Darkness Halts Game at End Of Tenth Inning With Score Seven-All

In a slow, seesaw tilt, called by Umpire Muller on account of darkness, the Glendale White Sox and the Gilmore Oilers battled ten innings yesterday at the local White Sox park to a 7-7 score. Dick Bonelly, moundsman for the Sox, had an off day, walking ten men and allowing thirteen hits. Bob Wallace, on the mound for the Oilers, walked only four men but allowed ten hits and was unsteady in the pinches.

The White Sox started off in the first with one marker put across on a base on balls, and fielder's choice, and a sizzling double to right center by "Ping" Bodie, former major leaguer and now right gardener for the locals. In the fourth inning Bodie came through with his second hit of the day, a home run which was the longest seen at the park.

Gilmore knotted the score in the fifth on two passes issued by Bonnelly to Don Rader and Beumiller, a grounder by Bob Wallace which took a lucky bound over Shields' head, and a long triple to left by Coleman. The Sox came back in their half of the fifth with three digits which apparently put the game on ice. Wallace had walked both "Chicken" Hawks and Bodie when "Pep" Young got a double to right scoring "Chicken." Walter Carlisle dove after the ball but landed on the radiator of a parked machine and was knocked temporarily unconscious. Leathers took his place in right. Bodie and Young scored on Shields' long double to left center.

Oilers Score Again

The Oilers again evened matters in the sixth. Chellgard received a ticket to first. Ennis doubled to right, the former stopping a third. After Davis had fanned, Chellgard came home and Ennis went to third on McKnight's infield out, French to Hawks. Rader singled to left, scoring Ennis, and came home himself when Beumiller doubled to left center. Bonnelly walked the next two batters but further scoring was prevented when Leathers forced Coleman at second, Young to French.

The Sox took a one-run lead in the seventh on a base on balls given to Hawks, a neat sacrifice bunt by Emerson, and a sharp single to right by Bodie.

The Oilers got on top in their half of the ninth when they put over two runs. Chellgard was safe when his bouncer took a mean hop past Young. Ennis failed to get his bat out of the way of a fast pitch and the ball rolled toward second. As the Glendale infielders were out of position on an expected bunt all hands were safe. Davis boosted a short fly which Emerson dropped but recovered in time to force Chellgard at third. Both runners advanced on McKnight's infield out and scored on Rader's double to right.

The locals managed to slip over a run during the ninth and tie the score. French singled through pitcher's box, and stole second. Emerson was walked and Bodie was dusted by a pitched ball. With bases full French scored as Young forced Bodie at second, Rader to Chellgard. Emerson was nailed near third on Ennis' fake throw to catch Young stealing second. The Oilers had two on in the tenth but were unable to supply the winning punch. The Sox were retired one-two-three.

RINGSIDE GOSSIP

By FAIR PLAY
Special Correspondent of The Evening News, Copyright, 1924

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Tommy Gibbons, Jack Renault, Luis Firpo, Harry Wills, Gene Tunney, George Godfrey.

Above are the heavyweights who loom upon Dempsey's horizon. Jack ought to be a happy man—if he can dope out a plan of further avoiding Harry Wills, who is the only one of the bunch who figures to make trouble for the champion.

Tommy Gibbons? Too light, and he has shown that, in meeting Dempsey, his chief job would be seeing how many rounds he could last. Jack Renault? A defensive fighter who could not hurt Jack and would himself be smashed before many rounds. Firpo? Luis was through the minute he set sail for Buenos Aires after his first Dempsey battle.

Gene Tunney? Too light, and not a fighter of Dempsey's sort, anyway. George Godfrey? No heart.

Wills? Certain critics of the game are making light of Harry's chances against the champion. But they are not doing the best by their followers in publishing such opinions. The fact is that Wills is a very capable contender for the title, and if Dempsey beats him he is going to have the hardest problem of his life to solve.

CALLS LINDSTROM NATURAL PLAYER

Never Played In Minors But Jumped From School to New York Giants

By O. L. SCOTT
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 13.—Fred Lindstrom, 18-year-old third baseman of the New York Giants, probably will go down in baseball as the unsung hero of the 1924 world series. His story hasn't been told. Here in Chicago where he has been sparkling on the diamond since he was 13, fans scarcely have heard of him.

Young Lindstrom was brought up in the packing house district of Chicago. It isn't an elite section, but its sand lots proved the making of this youngster. He took to the diamond in real style before he was out of the grammar school, and at that kept a grade ahead of other youngsters of his age in his studies.

Discovered By Coach

It was Coach H. A. Williamson, of Tilden Technical High School, who first saw big league greatness in the boy. Williamson said today that Lindstrom showed up at Tilden a rangy, ungainly boy, but that he soon proved his worth at third base.

"That boy was due to cut a figure in baseball from the start," said the coach. "He had a good head and a sharp eye, as natural a ball player as I ever saw. During his two years at Tilden, he was lead-off man on teams that won the South Side championship. He was a good waiter and had a telling eye, just as he has proved in the world series. They can't drive past him in the field and at bat he always was a sure thing.

Jumps Into Majors

"Lindstrom never was aslugger, but he could hit. He had the knack of connecting and hitting them 'where they ain't,' as Willie Kesler once said. He will be a big league star for years, or I miss my guess, and he has never had a minute's apprenticeship in the minors."

After two years at Tilden, Lindstrom was induced to transfer to Loyola Prep School for the last two years of his schooling. There is where McGraw's scouts found him.

Still his home town pays no attention to its boy wonder. Its two league teams—one with its $100,000 Willie Kamm—never gave him a moment's thought until he began to glitter in Gotham. Now they are wishing that they had noticed him.

Navy planes will visit cities inland as far as Salt Lake city. Officers of the Pacific fleet will speak and navy teams will compete with civilian football elevens.

DYNAMITERS WIN COAST CITY GAME

Defeat Santa Barbara High School Team, 19 to 6 In First Quarter

By ROSS M. RUSSELL, JR.
Of the Evening News Staff

Scoring 10 points in fifteen minutes of play at the opening of the game the Glendale High Dynamiters had little difficulty in winning over the Santa Barbara High school eleven at Pershing park, Santa Barbara, Saturday, 19-6. During the second quarter and last half, Coach Hayhurst sent in an almost complete team of substitutes, which accounts for the failure of the locals to run up a much higher score.

Dick Ryan, captain of the Dynamiters, made consistent gains for the locals. He made the two first touchdowns for Glendale. After he had skirted right end for sensational runs Leslie Lavelle, Glendale veteran end, intercepted a Santa Barbara forward pass and ran forty yards for the third touchdown. The home team made a touchdown in the second quarter which was ruled void by the referee in that Marion Morrisson, Glendale left guard, who intercepted a Santa Barbara pass, was ineligible to receive a pass.

Throughout the last half numerous substitutions were made on the Glendale side. Bud Elliot, Glendale quarterback, was sent in at his old position for the last two periods. Elliot has been bothered with a sore hand for the past week.

Santa Barbara Scores

The lone Santa Barbara touchdown came in the third quarter. Greene, who was playing end for the Dynamiters, was charged by the referee to have tackled a Santa Barbara man too hard and the locals were penalized half the distance to their goal. Consecutive forward passes put the ball over.

The Channel City boys were strong in the aerial line but outside of that played a very ordinary game. The locals were strong on the offensive and had little difficulty in piercing the Santa Barbara line. This game marks the last practice tilt for the Dynamiters who hook up with Citrus Union High school next Friday in what they expect to be one of the toughest games of the season. Coach Normal C. Hayhurst is confident that the locals will cop the Central league pennant if they show good form against Citrus and Covina. The line-up:

Glendale (19)		Santa Barbara (6)
Lavelle	L.E.	A. Smith
Dotson	L.T.	Tiscell
Morrisson	L.G.	R. Duncan
Zaun	C.	J. Duncan
Fannon	R.G.	Watson
Phillips	R.H.	Faffetto
De Parcq	R.E.	Clarke
Muff	Q.	Canterbury
Arbogast	L.H.	Ottero
Ryan	R.H.	N. Duncan
Denney	F.	Sommersted

Substitutions — Glendale: Nelson for Muff; Elliot for Nelson; Booker for Arbogast; Arbogast for Booker; Green for Dotson; Drury for Phillips; Bradbury for De Parcq; Jonkey for Lavelle. Santa Barbara—Henry for Sommersted; Richmond for Ottero; Cheadle for Tiscel.

Touch-downs—Ryan, 2; Lavelle, 1. Extra point—Muff.

Cotton Market Brings Protest From Farmers

NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 13. —Protests and criticisms of the bi-monthly cotton crop estimates of the department of agriculture issued this week, are pouring in here from farmers, merchants and spinners in every part of the south. Each estimate this season has been followed by protests based on the grounds that they are keeping the cotton market in an unsettled condition and interferring with business. Farmers say they are being compelled by this unsettled condition to sell cotton for less than it costs them to raise. Country merchants report their business has been unfavorably affected by the attitude of the farmers.

Seals Drop to Third Place As Seattle Wins Double; Bees Beat Tigers

By THREE STRIKES
For Southland News Service.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 13.—The Salt Lake Bees drubbed the Vernon Tigers a pair of games at Washington park yesterday, 7 to 4 and 5 to 4. By so doing the Mormons win the bonus of $1000 given by Owner William Lane, providing the Bees took the series from Oakland and Vernon. The first victory yesterday cinched the bonus, but the visitors didn't let up any, and continued fighting for the second victory.

In the first game Dick McCabe worked on the mound for the Bees and, although he was in several tight places, he held the locals fairly well in check. Lazarre and Leslie featured with the stick for Salt Lake, driving in all seven runs. The lead was taken by the visitors in the fourth, when they drove in four tallies. Ken Penner started for the Tigers, but was hit hard for six innings, being responsible for all seven scores. Lefty Thomas finished the opener and held the Bees helpless.

Mulcahy, young Bee twirler, started the twilight game, opposing "Wee" Ludolph," but both hurlers gave way after the fourth, when each club drove in a pair of runs. Ponder and Christian went the rest of the distance. The Tigers threatened to tie things up in the home half of the ninth, but were checked after putting across but one tally.

Indians On Top

Sacramento and Oakland split a doubleheader at Oakland yesterday, the first going to Oakland, 8 to 2, while the Senators took the second, 6 to 2.

The Angels were idle yesterday at Portland, the double bill being postponed on account of rain.

Seattle gave the league leading Seals a drubbing when the Indians won yesterday's double bill, the first by a score of 5 to 4, and the second 4 to 0. The double win put Seattle on top.

—James Whitcomb Riley

The revered Riley's epigram will be embraced by all of us to a most happy degree during the next few months.

Hoof and Mouth Bugaboo has faded from the picture. Outlook never better. Our confidence is exemplified by building homes of high order in Rossmoyne. Share this confidence by being the proud owner of a HOMECRAFTS BUILT RIGHT HOME.

You can be suited, however discriminating.

Projects of importance in civic affairs, are to be discussed tomorrow night at the opening meeting of the Business and Professional Women's club at the home of Dr. Elizabeth Early, 225 North Isabel street. Among the speakers will be Mrs. Allie Anderson-Roberts, who wi'l tell of plans for the new hospital on the Golden West sanitarium site. Other subjects to be discussed will be the civic center, and the proposed plunge for Arden street.

Preliminary to the meeting the club members will be complimentary guests of the cabinet at a 6:15 o'clock plate dinner. In addition to the talks there will be entertainment by pupils of the Emerson School of Self-Expression.

Mrs. Josephine Woolsey, club president, is hoping for a big meeting and states that reservations for the dinner will be received until tonight by Dr. Early at Glendale 2474-W, or Mrs. Grace Anderson, Glendale 3326-W.

P.-T. A. MEETING AT HIGH SCHOOL

Business Session, Informal Gathering Wednesday to Start Year's Work

Patrons of both Broadway and Harvard high schools are to participate Wednesday afternoon in the first meeting of the year of the Parent-Teacher association. Mrs. W. R. Wichert, president, announces that those attending are to be at the Harvard high school at 2 o'clock. They will enjoy an informal get-acquainted half hour, until 2:30 o'clock, when a short business session will be held.

Later a program will be given. There will be numbers by pupils from the dramatic and musical departments of the school, and Mrs. A. B. Bonham will give vocal solos.

The interest in the P.-T. A. has been doubled this year, for Mrs. Wichert has named on her various committees mothers representing both high schools.

Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital

Special Correspondence

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn R. Calkins and daughter of Long Beach were week-end guests at the sanitarium. Mrs. Calkins was formerly a sanitarium patient.

W. J. Beardsley, who has been a patient at the sanitarium since early spring, left for his home in Phœnix, Ariz., October 9, much improved in health.

A baby boy was born to Mrs. R. B. Perk of 1420 Dorothy drive on Sunday afternoon, October 12, 1924.

A rather unique birthday party was held at the home of Mrs. Allen Rich, 700 Orchard street, Sunday afternoon. It was to celebrate the birthdays of three members of the sanitarium junior class of nurses—Miss Ruth Westphal, president of the class; Miss Marie Bryant, and Miss Hilda Nelson. It happens that all three young ladies were born on the same day and two of them in the same year.

The Sanitarium orchestra is practicing faithfully twice a week and plans to have a program ready for presentation in the near future.

The graduate nurses are industriously studying for the state board examinations, which come on Thusday, October 16.

Saturday night, a musical program of sacred selections was given in the sanitarium parlor. Mendelssohn's "I Waited for the Lord" was sung by Mrs. I. A. Steinel and Miss Leta Fisher of Eagle Rock. "An Evening Prayer" was a solo by Mrs. Steinel; Rubinstein's "Wanderer's Night Song"—a duet by Mr. and Mrs. Steinel, followed by a trio with Miss Fisher as the third songster.

Mrs. Alice Dungan entertained fourteen guests at Sunday dinner in honor of her mother, Mrs. Emma T. Sinclair of Evanston, Ill. The dinner party took place in the patients' dining room at the sanitarium, and the occasion was Mrs. Sinclair's seventy-sixth birthday. The guests were Mrs. H. E. Burton of Leadville, Cal., with her three children, Virginia, Eleanor and Robert; Dr. James Beggs of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Watson Beggs and son of Los Angeles, and Mr. and Mrs. Harrington Reynolds and child of Palms, Cal.

Political Pulse

Editor's Note—This is the fourth of a series of articles written by A. S. Hall, of The Glendale Evening News editorial staff, dealing with the political situation in Central and Middle Western states in the South and Southwest. Material for this series was gathered by Mr. Hall on a tour of 6000 miles through Arizona, Nevada, Utah, Wyoming, Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Missouri, Kansas, Colorado, Oklahoma, Texas and New Mexico. The next article of the series to appear in The Glendale Evening News will be: Where Voters Are Satisfied and Calm.

IV—CROPS ARE FACTORS IN THIS CAMPAIGN

By A. S. HALL
Of The Evening News Staff.

Back in the days politicians of the old school often refer to when talking about elections, votes were acquired in the open market, with money, small municipal jobs, and pre-Volstead fluid as the articles of barter.

Today there is no open market for votes but municipal jobs and "corn" are still important factors in any campaign. The only difference now is that the corn is in the solid stage and not liquid as it once was.

To those who do not think that corn has a lot to do with elections and campaigns, the writer refers them to the political situation today in South Dakota. Of course, there is no direct connection, if a senatorial investigation should be launched, but there is more than one way to win favor.

Make Farmers Happy

Corn always has been a fair crop in South Dakota. The yields have been like yields in other states—sometimes a bumper crop, and other years just enough to carry the stock through a hard winter. This year seems to be one of the "bumper crop" years.

Farmers throughout South Dakota have a lot of confidence in Coolidge this year, observations by the writer in that state reveal, and if the president does not get the largest majority any Republican ever polled in South Dakota, then all signs of the time are wrong. This great degree of confidence, it was learned, has been brought about by the personal interest of the president in the war finance corporation, the federal farm loan banks, and the agricultural credit corporation.

Farmers who were hard-pressed found they could get desired and much needed aid through these agencies. Many banks in the state which would have otherwise failed, and many farmers who would have been forced to sacrifice valuable farm land were saved by these agencies through the period of stress.

Now Reaping Harvest

The farmers are now reaping their harvest, and the Republican party is also reaping harvests in the state in the form of this great confidence in Fresident Coolidge. Grain prices have been on the steady climb during the last few weeks; and hog and beef prices have been keeping pace; all of which have helped to add to the welfare and riches of the farmers.

W. S. Hill, president of the state board of agriculture in South Dakota for the past twelve years, who has seen and talked with farmers in the "fat and lean" periods that have passed during his residence of thirty-eight years in the territory and state, says:

"I have never witnessed a more widespread confidence among the farmers of South Dakota in the personality of any one man that is apparent today in their belief in President Coolidge. Unquestionably their appreciation for his interest in the agricultural credit corporation, war finance corporation and farm loan banks will be expressed in the overwhelming majority which they will accord President Coolidge in the coming election."

Women Interested

This year will see a larger percentage of women's votes cast in South Dakota than has ever been recorded, observations show. The women of the state share with the farmers the confidence that is displayed in the nation's chief executive officer, and are desirous of making their faith and belief in President Coolidge known at the polls. One close student of politics told the writer he believed fully 90 per cent of the women registered would vote this year, which will set a new record.

La Follette is not without his followers in the state, although the Wisconsin senator can hardly be considered strong there. His stand on the tariff back in 1922, when he voted to increase the duty on fresh beef from 2 to 3½ cents a pound, on fresh lamb from 2 to 5 cents a pound, on bacon and hams from 1¼ to 2 cents a pound, on lard from 25 per cent ad valorem to 5 cents a pound, on milk from one cent to 2½ cents a gallon, on cream to 22½ cents a gallon, on poultry from 2 to 3 cents a pound, and on wheat from 25 to 30 cents a bushel, has won him many friends in the state where these articles mean money in the bank for the farmers.

It was this activity of La Follette that will give him a better vote in South Dakota than Bryan and Davis will poll, in the opinion of political observers, but it is not predicted that he will be a serious contender in the race as far as South Dakota is concerned. Crops, good crops raised on land rented, in many instances through funds secured by federal aid, and now being marketed at a good price, and win the votes for Coolidge and Dawes.

Premier MacDonald of England recently opened an exhibition of the works of Frank Brangwyn, it being the first time a British Prime Minister has opened a one-man art show.

RELIGION PLAYS DIVORCE ROLES

Record Number Complaints Filed In Los Angeles With Faith Taking Part

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 13.—Religion was the rift on which two marital barks were reported wrecked in suits for divorce filed in the Los Angeles county superior court. A record number of complaints are on file, according to court house reporters, and the marriage license bureau is daily crowded to capacity with couples willing to take the chance of living happily ever after.

Rachel Regan is suing her husband Thomas, alleging he is a minister of the gospel, but for the past ten years has not accepted a pastorate—and "will not do anything and says the 'Lord will provide'," according to words from the complaint.

Dishes Play Part

Alfred E. Sterling, Jr., sues his wife Florence Hannaford Sterling alleging neglect of their children for the study of New Thought and Theosophy.

Jessie M. Walker sues on the good old ground of cruelty, alleging that Frank M. Walker not only threw the dishes at her, but chased her around a camp grounds while they were on a motor trip, flourished a gun and threatened to shoot her head off.

L. A. County Counsel Gets New Assistant

A CHALLENGE

Can Any Other Remedy Known Match this Heartfelt, Glowing Praise for Veronica Water?

Every reader of the newspapers is familiar with the testimonials which are frequently published by the manufacturers of prepared drugs. Yet here is a natural mineral water, bottled just as it comes from the Spring, that has received, entirely unsolicited, what is perhaps the most remarkable endorsement ever given to a remedy of any kind. Read this amazing letter. It is typical of the hundreds received praising the wonderful benefits derived from a few glasses of Veronica Water taken daily for a short time.

525 So. Sixth St.,
San Jose, California

Having been a sufferer from high blood pressure, intercostal neuralgia, muscular heart trouble, kidney trouble and rheumatism, I entered one of the best hospitals in San Francisco and after having been under their treatment for months, I was unable to receive relief.

After leaving the hospital I was induced to try Veronica Water, and after using eight bottles I discarded my crutches and am now entirely healed.

Veronica Water is one of the most wonderful remedies I ever heard of and can highly recommend it to those afflicted with any liver, stomach, kidney or rheumatic conditions.

If people only knew what it would do, they would readily purchase it and give it a fair trial.

(Signed) Mrs. M. L. Brown.

Mrs. Montgomery will direct the club meeting in the afternoon at 2 o'clock. The program following will be an opera recital by Dr. Frank Nagel. The object of this index column is to refer you to the CO-OPERATIVE DEPARTMENT on Page 6 of this issue, where you will find listed a large number of merchants, tradesmen and professional men who are real boosters for Glendale.
